HERBERT HOOVER IS ON HIS WAY BACK to America, and work, arriving next week. He will plan his Cabinet, consulting many, and doing exactly as he pleases. And two months from tomorrow he will take charge of the situation.

Mr. Coolidge did exactly the right thing after the war, when the country needed two things; first, to save money; second, to be let alone, free from dangerous experimenting.

Mr. Hoover will find a different situation, a different job. The "cousting" period is over, the time has come to supply power to take the engine up hill.

Mr. Hoover's reputation as President will depend on the things that he himself actually DOES.

Fortunately for him, he is trained as an engineer, trained in government work, and he comes from careful study what the country needs.

Wall Street started the New Year cheerfully, as was to be expected.

With a first class President going out, and a first class President coming in, and all the skies rosy, why should Wall Street be sad? The interest on call money was only 10 per cent. Even the solemn, quiet old Pennsylvania railroad got excited, going up to a new high price.

What we call the universe, with the Milky Way, in which our sun is a tiny speck, and its thousand million stars, each a sun with planets revolving around it, turns out to be only one little corner of the universe.

Astronomers tell you that 1000 universes surround us, some as far away as the distance that light could travel in 1,000,000 years, going 186,000 miles a second.

Physics is said to be "transcendent" and with its piercing telescopes and mother photography, astronomers hope to penetrate and measure the universe.

What science calls the one thousand universes are probably only one thousand little sand hills with millions like them scattered through infinite space.

The scheme is too big even for a scientific mind. Fortunately, it does not prevent the little man attending to business close at hand.

Dr. Osborn, head of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, rebukes another scientist who dragged into scientific discussion the statement that man "Needs to change his concept of God."

Dr. Osborn quoted the negro preacher who, on a stormy Sunday, "Thanked the Lord that Thou art with us tonight, despite the weather."

When the bartender placed a glass of water beside her glass of gin, an old lady in an English public house said:

"Young man, I have trouble enough without drinking water."

Scientists have trouble enough without stirring up religious discussions and animosities.

Let scientific facts speak for themselves. If men need to change their concept of God, they will find it out themselves. They won't change it to order.

Everything gets bigger. William Fox will build at Broadway and 47th st., in New York, a 40-story building to contain the biggest moving picture theater. When this is done, somebody else, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, or somebody, will come along and build a 50-story building and a bigger theater. These are days of big things, and the business of government is NOT to interfere with them. Let the builders and business men see what they can do.

Mrs. Charles Giovanno locked herself in a room, turned on the gas and died. Her farewell note said her husband "had another," and under the circumstances she could not possibly live.

The unhappy woman told of her husband's neglect and recounted several times that she loved him, with a shaking hand, before she wrote, wishing him a Happy New Year.

It is amazing the importance that women attach to worthless husbands.

ALLEN ACTS 'TEETH' IN AUTO LAW

Permanent revocation of licenses of all automobilists involved in fatal accidents while under the influence of liquor is one of several drastic changes in the laws demanded today by Governor Allen in his inaugural message to the Legislature.

He characterized the list of fatalities and accidents due to the automobile as "appalling."

"It is apparent that two must take further and more drastic means to keep this deplorable situation under control," he declared.

He recommended that:

Every automobile operated in this state be submitted at regular intervals to inspection by competent persons.

More strict examination of applicants for operating licenses.

Criminal Conditions Created by Dry Law Demand Better Plan'

W. C. Durant,
250 West 57th St., New York.

My Dear Mr. Durant: I received your telegram and enjoyed it. We are not so far apart as might seem at first glance.

At least we are not far apart in some phases of the problem we are discussing. You are in favor of temperance; so am I.

I do not know how long you have been interested in the temperance movement, and how and to what extent you have crusaded for temperance.

Unless you might say the same thing about me, let me hurry to state that I have been a crusader in the temperance movement for something over forty years; and I have printed an enormous number of editorials and cartoons attacking the saloon and the dispensation of hard liquors.

That these editorials were at least considered effective propaganda may be indicated by the fact that many of the temperance organizations of the county asked leave to distribute them and did distribute many of them widely.

Therefore, I can assume, I think, that we are both equally sincerely interested in the cause of temperance; and the only difference between us is a difference of opinion as to what is the best means of promoting that cause.

You apparently believe that prohibition is an intelligent and practicable effort to promote temperance. I do not believe that it is.

Our objective being the same—temperance or even total abstinence—our difference is merely one of method.

I admit that I never did believe that prohibition would be effective as a temperance measure, for the reason that from the first it seemed inevitable, considering the character of

$60,000 FIRE DESTROYS DARTMOUTH DTD HOUSE

Hanover, N. H., Jan. 3 (INS)—Delta Tau Delta house, largest fraternity house at Dartmouth College, was destroyed today by fire that threatened the home of Pres. Ernest M. Hopkins and other nearby buildings.

Local firemen, aided by citizens and volunteers from White River Junction and Lebanon, kept the fire within the frat house, despite the handicap of intensely cold weather.

The loss is estimated at $60,000.

Adams, testifying before the commission and a throng of 700 spectators who were kept in order by a large detachment of State Constabulary in uniform, declared Judge Emil Fuchs, Braves' president, told him that Councilor William C. Lynch solicited compensation for a bloc of councilors.

Regarding the request for a Christmas donation, he testified that he received a letter with the signature of Councillor John F. Dowd, asking him to make a donation for deserving families in Roxbury and to advertise in a program.

Gives List of 13 Councillors That Judge Fuchs Had Provided Him

He submitted a list of names of 13 councillors given him by Judge Fuchs after the latter's conversation with Lynch and this list was taken by Chairman Dowling of the Finance Commission and marked Exhibit A.

The names are Lynch, Donovan, Mahoney, Dowd, McMahon, Sullivan, Ruby, Bush, Wilson, Dowling, Deveney, Motley and Murphy.

Adams also told of being solicited by Ernest Goulston to aid "Dan" Carroll, fight manager, to obtain engagements at the Boston Garden for his stable of boxers.

"Dan" Carroll was said by Judge Fuchs to have accompanied Lynch at the time of the conversation between Lynch and Fuchs, and today Atty. Joseph P. Walsh, representing Councillor Lynch, announced he was representing Carroll also.

When he saw Carroll, the latter said, according to Adams, that he was sorry about the affair at the Copley-Plaza (the Lynch-Fuchs meeting), that he had no idea what Lynch contemplated doing and that Lynch had "got away from him."

Adams testified that Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the ball club, told him the substance of a conversation that he (Fuchs) had with Lynch at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

ADAMS CORROBORATES FUCHS' STORY OF LYNCH DEMANDS

"The substance was that Councillor Lynch had informed him that he represented a bloc of councillors who wished to be compensated if they were to enact a Sunday sports bill for the city of Boston," said Adams.

The story of the Braves' vice-president was awaited with great eagerness by the throng that filled Gardner auditorium at the State House, scene of the hearings, to capacity and overflowed into the corridor, for it was Adams who made the original disclosure which led to the investigation.

Summonses were issued by the Finance Commission, prior to the opening of today's session, for the 13 city councilors named by President Fuchs of the Braves at the first day's hearing as being implicated in an alleged attempt to extort $65,000 for passage of the Sunday sports measure.

Dist. Atty. William J. Foley was making preparations for a Grand Jury probe of the bribe allegations as the Finance Commission resumed its hearing after a delay caused by the inaugural.

Other Accused Councillors Stand by Lynch in Giving Lie to Fuchs

Most of the accused Councillors in statements today stood by Councillor William G. Lynch of South Boston, who, Fuchs said, solicited a bribe and gave the names of 12 confederates.

Two Councillors, not numbered among the accused 13, were charged by one of their fellows with being stoolpigeons and "Copley-Plaza boys."

This charge was made by Councillor Thomas H. Dowd of Roxbury, who accused the "Copley-Plaza boys" of putting accusations in Judge Fuehs' mouth.

An investigation of the City Council vote on the widening of Exchange st., which Judge Fuchs said was mentioned to him as a case in which the councillors were "taken care of," will be made by the Finance Commission separately from the baseball inquiry, it was announced today.

Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner, who was reported investigating a statement attributed to Councillor Lynch, to the effect that there was nothing to fear in regard to prosecution in Suffolk County because "we draw our own juries," declared today that he was closely watching developments.

He said he was not empowered to investigate anything as yet disclosed at the hearing, but was in duty bound to assist any and all district attorneys and he said he placed reliance on Dist. Atty. Foley to take such action as was necessary.

"Councillor Lynch told me: 'As far as prosecution in Suffolk County goes, it's a joke. We draw our own juries.'"

This was Judge Fuchs' testimony at the first day of the Finance Commission hearing. Under present methods the City Council selects prospective jurors.

Lynch and Foley 'Pass the Time of Day' at the Courthouse

Councillor Lynch went to the courthouse today and visited the office of the clerk of courts. When he left the building he passed Dist. Atty. Foley, who also lives in South Boston. The two said, "Good morning," and passed on.

District Attorney Foley promised action as soon as he received a transcript of the evidence being given to the Finance Commission.

"I have nothing to say now," declared Lynch before the hearing was resumed today. "But I have been called to testify. And it will be interesting."

Councillor Robert G. Wilson, one of those named as belonging to the "bloc," not only denied the charges, but demanded the right to interrogate anyone who has mentioned his name directly or indirectly. He expressed his intention of making such a request to the Finance Commission.

Testimony at today's hearing follows:

Chairman Dowling Bans Smoking and Cunniff Reads Authority for Hearing

Chairman Dowling: Secretary Cunniff will read the rules and regulations of the commission and, in a small way, show the authority of the commission, in order that the public may understand. I wish to announce that no smoking will be permitted and that the state guard will enforce this ruling.

Secretary Cunniff then read the statute that gives authority to the commission to hold hearings.

He explained that any attorney representing a witness has authority to ask questions of a pertinent nature and to offer evidence of a pertinent nature. Under the law investing authority in the commission Secretary Cunniff pointed out that counsel for any witness had the right to offer a question in writing which the chairman would put in due form.

The secretary said that a witness had the right to make a statement before or after his testimony, but no person could take part in the hearing without authority. He stressed the citation in the law that no disorderly, loud or boisterous language or improper conduct would be permitted.

He explained that as a result of these hearings the commission had the right to enter civil suits for the city of Boston and to institute criminal proceedings in behalf of the Commonwealth.

Atty. Walsh for Lynch and Atty. Hoar, counsel for Adams, then conferred with Chairman Dowling, after which Atty. Walsh said: I appear as counsel for Dan Carroll, who has been summoned as a witness here.

Chairman Dowling—The commission will take note of that fact and act upon it in due time.

Gardner Auditorium resembled a clinic with its tiers of seats, filled when the hearing got under way. After disposing of the preliminaries Chairman Dowling called Vice-President Charles F. Adams of the Braves to testify.

Adams stood up and was sworn.

To answer to Chairman Dowling's admonition to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, Adams said: I do.

Chairman Dowling—What is your name? A.—Charles F. Adams.

Q.—What does the F stand for? A.—Francis.

Q.—What is your address? A.—Framingham.

Q.—What is your business? A.—Vice-president of the Braves.

Q.—Judge Emil Fuchs is the president of the Boston National League club? A.—Yes.

Q.—Are you in Boston? A.—I am in Boston every day.

Q.—Did you ever register at the Copley-Plaza Hotel? A.—I presume I am registered there, as I stay there one or two days a week.

Q.—Have you ever stayed at any other hotel? A.—I have stayed at the Lenox, the Ritz or the Copley Plaza, whichever Mrs. Adams wished to stay at.

Q.—In November or December did you have a conversation with Judge Fuchs as to the possibility of the Boston City Council not passing the Sunday sports law? A.—I did.

Q.—Detail the conversation. A.—Judge Fuchs called me on the telephone and said he had some important information to give me; that he would give me part of it over the telephone and the remainder at the Copley Plaza Hotel. The substance of the conversation was that Councillor Lynch had informed him that he represented a block of councillors who wished to be compensated if they were to enact a Sunday sports bill for the city of Boston.

Believes Conference With Fuchs Took Place on November 24 or 25

Q.—Where were you at the time of this telephone conversation? A.—In my office in Water st.

Q.—When did the conversation take place? A.—Prior to November 25. I estimate the date as November 24 or 25.

Q.—Was it in the early morning? A.—I can't remember.

Q.—Did he say that a certain bloc desired to be compensated and would not pass the Sunday sports bill? A.—He said he was so informed by Councillor Lynch.

Q.—What was the date this conversation occurred? A.—I wouldn't say.

Q.—Did you ask Judge Fuchs for the names? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Have you the names? A.—I have. (Pointing some papers).

Q.—Read them. A.—Lynch, Donovan, Mahoney, Dowd, McMahon, Sullivan, Ruby, Bush, Wilson, Dowling, Devaney, Motley, Murphy.

Tells of Getting Letter With Name of John F. Dowd Signed Upon It

Q.—There are circles around the names Mahoney, Motley and Murphy. What do those circles mean? A.—I thought they were for the bill. Q.—What gives you the impression that the list was made before December 21? A.—Because I made a record. Passed for further details as to time in placed the date before December 21. Adams said:

Under date of November 28 I received the following letter on the stationery of the City Council with the name John F. Dowd below where City Council was printed:

The letter was addressed to Adams and told of a monster Christmas banquet fund to be held Thursday evening, December 20, for the benefit of the deserving families in Roxbury. The letter requested Adams to advertise in the program or to send a donation, and was signed by John F. Dowd.

"I replied under date of November 30 to the effect that my information is incorrect you are one of a group who is opposed to Sunday baseball. Is this true or have I been misinformed?"

Q.—Do you know a man Daniel Carroll? A.—Yes sir.

Q.—Is that the original list you are reading from? A.—No; it is here.

The witness handed Attorney Hoar a slip. Hoar passed it to Chairman Dowling, who ordered it marked Exhibit A.

Q.—Now do I understand that the list you handed me was made at this time Judge Fuchs spoke to you over the telephone? A.—I am not sure. I think it was.

Q.—Can you fix the date that you made out these lists? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Was it some time prior to December 21? A.—Yes, I transcribed that list at the time Judge Fuchs spoke to me. I would say it was some time before December 21.

Q.—You drew a circle around the name Ruby. Why the circle around Ruby? A.—Because I was given to understand that he was not against it.

WARNER AND FOLEY TO PRESS BASEBALL 'BRIBE' INQUIRY

Q.—How long have you known him? A.—I have known of him for a long time, but I met him for the first time about two weeks ago.

Q.—Give us the circumstances of that meeting? A.—I received a telephone call approximately two weeks ago to the effect that the person speaking, whom I knew very well, had been asked to secure an interview with me for Mr. Carroll; that Mr. Carroll was involved in an unpleasant situation, that he had troubles with the matchmaker at the Boston Garden, and that his stable of fighters was not given the opportunity to go on to fight more, and that Carrol was entirey innocent of any wrongdoing.

Atty. Joseph P. Walsh then demanded the name of the man who called Adams. Adams objected on the ground that it was immaterial and Chairman Dowling ordered him to give the name.

"Mr. Ernest Goulston," Adams replied.

He was told to continue, and testified:

"I replied to Mr. Goulston that I would tell him the story what Judge Fuchs told me about Carroll, and that if he thought Mr. Carroll was entirely innocent he would see what he could do.

"Mr. Goulston said he would see Mr. Carroll. Later he said he had gone over the situation with Carroll and he said to me: 'I am convinced that you have done him wrong; that he was not a part of the holdup, and that Mr. Carroll convinced him that he was innocent of the affair.'

Names Goulston as Man Who Called In Behalf of Carroll's Plaint

Q.—When you did talk to Mr. Carroll did you describe the incident at the Copley Plaza? A.—Yes. Carroll said he was sorry about the affair, that he had no idea what Lynch was trying to do and that Lynch had "got away from him."

Q.—Did Mr. Carroll say anything to you about Mr. Lynch being compelled to do this thing? A.—I think not.

Adams then told of another talk he had with Carroll at a hockey game at the Boston Garden. He said he was sitting in his box when a young man he never saw before said that Carroll wanted to see him.

"He took me by the arm," said Adams, "and we went to the corridor where Carroll said: 'Mr. Lynch has changed his mind. This thing will go through unanimously. Don't worry any further.' In closing I said to him: 'Now remember I don't care whether Lynch votes for this or not. It's this, You, in effect, by your association with Lynch are tarred with the same stick and you have got to get away from him.

Q.—If any time was there any expression by Mr. Carroll that the gang would murder Mr. Lynch if he didn't go through with the proposition? A.—After a long hesitation, No, I think not. I think that incident was part of what occurred at the Copley Plaza.

Q.—Will you now tell what Judge Fuchs said to you at the Copley Plaza? A.—He stated in substance in his testimony yesterday all that he said to me then.

Q.—Will you state to the best of your recollection what he said? A.—He said that the Council would vote on this order anyway and he was inclined to postpone it but I reminded him that any delay would interfere with our schedules and that action would place the men on record.

Allow No Smoking At Hearing On Baseball Bribe

Rules and regulations for official etiquette at the baseball probe hearing tightened up today.

Chairman Dowling ordered that statutes establishing the finance commission's authority to hold hearings be read, "so that the public may understand. He then stated:

"I wish to announce that no smoking will be permitted. The State Guard will enforce this ruling."

TRAIL HUB AUTO THEFT RING

Two Department of Justice operatives left Boston today for an unannounced New Hampshire destination on orders of Asst. U. S. Atty. John V. Spalding, who has begun a Federal investigation of alleged interstate traffic in stolen automobiles carried on by the "Glidden" auto ring.

Horace H. Glidden, reputed "brains" of the gang, is at present in Charles Street Jail in default of $25,000 bail while awaiting grand jury action in Suffolk County for alleged automobile thefts in Greater Boston.

George Collins, Joseph Emerson, and George Cusick, all of Somerville, are at liberty on $2000 bail each on charges in Middlesex County, while Philip Drohan of Watertown is held with Glidden for a Suffolk Grand Jury on other charges of automobile thefts.

Spalding declared today his investigators have under suspicion a well-known Worcester man as the "fence" for the stolen cars, who by "underground" channels has been able to dispose of them throughout the northern New England states.

Recovery by police in New Hampshire of two automobiles listed as stolen in Boston two weeks ago, led Spalding to depute the two Department of Justice sleuths to probe the method by which the machines were shipped and the identity of the man who sold them.

WOMAN LEAVES SICKBED TO AID POOR

Tortured by thoughts of the desperate plight of five ittle children of Antonio Corriellaro, East Boston World War veteran who gave his loaded revolver to police saying he would kill his starving family, Mrs. Elsa Schmitt of Jamaica Plain, rose from her sick bed to aid them with a money gift.

Mrs. Schmitt read of the desperate battle being waged against poverty by the East Boston father in the Boston Evening American.

"I thought I was having a hard time suffering with rheumatism in my head and arm," Mrs. Schmitt said, after visiting the Corriellaro home on Princeton st. But those poor little children, hungry and cold and only half clothed, showed me what real suffering is.

"I had $100 given to me for Christmas, and I could not rest until I had divided it with those brave people. The mother keeps the home neat and clean, in spite of her empty pantry and coal bin, and they are the self-respecting sort who should be helped onto their feet."

Mrs. Corriellaro smiled for the first time in weeks, and clutched the unexpected gift as she exclaimed: "Oh, we can have a bag of coal now, and buy some of that Peter Rovery and milk bills that have driven me frantic. There's a God, after all, and now I hope He pities me a job for my husband."

Corriellaro was out hunting work when Mrs. Schmitt called.

BLAME SWITCH FOR WRECK

Boston & Maine Railroad officials following an investigation, announced today that an improperly placed switch evidently was the cause of a locomotive and one car of the crack train, The Flyer, jumping the tracks in Somerville.

The heavy train plowed up about 50 yards of rails, but the locomotive did not tip over and, according to the Boston & Maine officials, few people of the train realized that an accident had happened.

The train was composed of 10 cars and the locomotive, en route from Maine to Boston. The accident happened at Asylum Hill, East Somerville. Inspectors from the department of public works, following their usual custom, conducted an independent investigation.

Fall River, Jan. 3 (AP)—Edward J. Leary, for more than 25 years city editor of the Fall River Evening Herald and later of the Fall River Herald-News, died at his home here today after a long illness. He was a native of Fall River and began work as a printer.

He served on papers in Fall River and New Bedford. Mr. Leary at one time was registrar of voters. He was a charter member of the Fall River Council, Knights of Columbus and belonged to the Elks. He leaves a widow, one daughter and two sons.

Worcester, Jan. 3 (AP)—Henry Beckman of Northampton, who was fatally injured today while employed as a steeplejack in making repairs on the belfry of Christ Episcopal Church in North Brookfield, died this afternoon in City hospital here as a result of a 30-foot fall, when he landed on an ell of the church. Members of the fire department were called to get him down.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 2 (INS)—Olympia Macri, who went through two trials for murder, one here and one in Litchfield three years ago, is to be married. Miss Macri and Nicholas Lombardi, a New York plumber, took out a marriage license here yesterday, and today indicated they would be married as soon as the five days' limit set by law expires.

Miss Macri shot and killed John Bagnano, alleged father of her child, in front of a theater here in 1926, and handed a revolver to a police officer as she had emptied its bullets into Bagnano's prostrate body.

Indicted for first degree murder, Miss Macri was tried by a jury which disagreed. The state asked a change of venue and she was tried in Litchfield where a jury acquitted her.

Washington, Jan. 3—President Coolidge can submit the nomination of a successor to Postmaster Roland M. Baker of Boston to the Senate as quickly as he desires after the Civil Service Commission has certified the names of the three applicants having the highest rating, but Senator David I. Walsh will insist upon making a personal study before agreeing to confirmation by the Senate.

Walsh, who disapproves of tactics employed by Representative Andrew Maverick Jr., regards the manner in which civil service regulations have been disregarded, not only in the Boston case, but in scores of similar cases throughout the country.

He insisted today that he has a candidate for the Boston vacancy, and that any action he may take will be because of the tendency to return to the spoils system.

"I deplore the complete scuttling of the civil service system as it applies to the appointment of postmasters," the senator said this noon. "Boston is merely an example of what is happening elsewhere throughout the country and in other Massachusetts localities."

"I do not know of anything the Republican leaders in Massachusetts could do that would be more fatal to the future success of their party than this very matter for it has opened up a field of attack upon the protection of the civil service."

NOOSE AWAITS LOVE SLAYER AND DOCTOR

Franklin, La., Jan. 2 (INS)—Forty-eight hours before the time set for their execution Mrs. Ada Bonner Lebouef and Dr. T. E. Dreher, conspirators in the slaying of the former's husband, learned today that their last dim hope had flickered away.

There has been only one person who could have saved the triangle plotters from the fate to which they have been condemned by their vaults. He was Gov. Huey P. Long of Louisiana. He could have commuted their sentences to life imprisonment.

However, the Governor has announced definitely that he will not intervene in the double hanging of the man and woman set for between the hours of 12 and 3 p. m. Saturday, and Sheriff Charles Pecoc of Franklin has started erecting the scaffold from which they will be hanged.

SEES LAST HOPE FADE.

In an interview given out today Lieutenant-Governor Paul N. Cyr, a member of the state prison board, said the Governor had "doubly erossed" him in refusing to grant commutation in the case. He said the honoring would be "judicial murder."

Until word came of the Governor's announcement, Mrs. Lebouef and Dr. Dreher both had been hopeful.

"I guess that's our last chance gone," said Dr. Dreher, when informed of the Chief Executive's decision. Mrs. Lebouef did not speak, but turned her face and gazed out of the window of her cell.

MOST BRUTAL KILLING.

One of the principal grounds on which many clemency appeals were based was that Jim Bolin, a trapper who was tried alone with Mrs. Lebouef and Dr. Dreher and who pleaded guilty to the actual commission of the crime, was given a life sentence. It was contended that the same sentence should have been meted out to all.

The crime for which Mrs. Lebouef and Dr. Dreher were sentenced to hang went down in Louisiana crime annals as one of the most revolting on record. The disrobed body of James L. Lebouef was found July 1, 1925, in Lake Palourde, five days after he had been killed and his body stuffed with iron slugs to keep it from rising.

BAY STATE VOTE FOR AL IS 'CAST' BY MRS. SAYRE

Mrs. Jessie Woodrow Sayre, daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, today presented to Federal Judge James M. Morton of Massachusetts, a electoral vote for "Al" Smith for President.

Mrs. Sayre appeared in court when Judge Morton was hearing a naval conspiracy case and the precedition were halted. The judge gave the donors an opportunity of viewing the vote. It was then filed with the clerk of court.

A second record of the Massachusetts vote was forwarded to Washington.

It was the second time in his years that a Democratic president of note had been presided from the Bay State.

Regan belittled her; Mabel Forrest, who objected to Bryant Washburn calling her a battleaxe, and Jacqueline Logan, who declared Robert Gillespie called her dumb.

Fuller Walks Alone — As He Leaves State House — As Former Governor

As ex-governor, Alvan T. Fuller is shown in this staff photo coming down the State House steps as booming cannon heralded the inauguration of his successor. But he smiled, perhaps thinking of a comeback so me day, perhaps because he saw Mrs. Fuller and his four children waiting for him at the State House gates.

Each member of the Fuller family was greeted with a kiss when the ex-governor reached Mrs. Fuller and their four children at the entrance to the State House as he left the building free from all official cares. Arrow shows the Sacco book on the sidewalk where it rested after he spurned its offer by a Sacco enthusiast who intruded upon the scene as the Fuller family was about to start for their Beacon st. home.

True Temperance Will End Evils

our people, that a campaign of force would not be as effective as a campaign of education.

As I said in a previous telegram, paraphrasing a familiar quotation, you can lead the American people to water, but you cannot MAKE them drink it.

Furthermore, my fight had been chiefly against hard liquors, and it seemed to me from the first that it would be easier for the law-defying element to deal illicitly in hard liquors than in the milder and bulkier form of alcoholic drinkables.

This opinion seems to have been borne out by the facts; and I think it can be truthfully said today that any man who wants a drink can get one; and about the only difference between the present condition and the condition preceding prohibition is that a man who wants a mild drink is compelled to take a strong one; and a man who wants a good drink is compelled to take a bad one.

It is true that saloons have been closed, but saloons were being closed before prohibition was enacted, being closed through the education of the public, through a high rate of excise taxation, through local option and through direct legislation.

Since prohibition, for every saloon that has been closed there is either a still or a speakeasy or a bootlegger supplying the most vicious and injurious kind of liquor that it is possible to concoct or conceive of.

You ask is anybody in favor of the bootlegger and the speakeasy? The obvious answer is:

No, nobody is except possibly the bootlegger and the proprietor of the speakeasy.

Some of the public are sincere enough and clear-thinking enough, however, to be opposed not only to the bootlegger and the speakeasy, but to the condition which creates the bootlegger and the speakeasy.

You ask if anyone is opposed to the Constitution and the law?

Nobody except the criminal class.

But some of the public are sufficiently intelligent to realize that, when supporting the Constitution as a whole, they are also supporting that clause of the Constitution which permits the modification by amendment of that document's provision; and that it is just as much within the rights and liberties of the people to take prohibition out of the Constitution as it was within their rights and liberties to put it in, in order to see how it would operate.

You intimate that prohibition has not been given a sufficient trial or a sufficiently fair trial.

It has been tried for ten years.

And I think the facts will justify the statement that there are more bootleggers today than there ever have been during the past ten years of trial;

And that there are more speakeasies today than there ever have been during those ten years;

And that there is more hard liquor and bad liquor being distributed today than there ever has been during those ten years;

And that there are more criminals being created today by the liquor traffic than there ever has been during those ten years;

And that those criminals, brought up and educated in law-defiance by the liquor traffic, have become defiant of all other laws and added menaces to society in many other fields of dishonest endeavor.

PROHIBITION HAS FINANCED THE UNDERWORLD.

There is no use preaching, as we all do, that "crime does not pay," when it so obviously does pay—and pays big enough dividends to provide for the creation and employment of gangs of gunmen and thugs and murderers and bootleggers and hi-jackers, many of whom have become rich and consequently almost respectable; and all of whom are as earnestly, if not as conscientiously, in favor of prohibition as you, sir, or any other of that measure's honest advocates.

You say that those who are in favor of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment are willing to admit defeat.

Not at all.

They are only willing to admit FACTS, and to call for a more intelligent and more successful plan which will lead them more surely to VICTORY.

You imply that the Republican party has just won its unprecedented political victory on the prohibition issue, and that the principal appeal of the Democratic candidate was his promise to use his high office to urge a relaxation of the liquor laws.

The Republican party no more won a victory on the prohibition issue than the Prohibition party ever won a victory on the prohibition issue.

My contention is, and was during the whole campaign, in which I supported Mr. Hoover, that the liquor issue was not an issue at all in a federal campaign, and that the President could do nothing to relax the liquor laws, and that Mr. Smith was making a false appeal which no intelligent voter should pay any attention to.

Justice Hughes, formerly a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and fairly familiar with the laws of the land and the legitimate issues of the campaign, took the same view.

There were GENUINE issues in the last campaign—such as the maintenance of the high degree of prosperity which had prevailed under a Republican administration—and the voters had sense enough to recognize them.

You say that six out of ninety-six members of the Senate sighty are dry and that out of four hundred and thirty-five members of the House three hundred and twenty-nine are dry.

I would like to say, if it is not disrespectful, that many of them are dry intermittently as it were, on the installment plan, and that their highest point of desiccation is reached during or immediately preceding a political campaign.

However, that has only an indirect application to the merits of prohibition as a temperance measure.

I am against prohibition for the same reasons that the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal church stated that they were opposed to prohibition—because it has set the cause of temperance back twenty years;

Because it has substituted an ineffective campaign of force for an effective campaign of education;

Because it has replaced comparatively uninjurious light wines and beers with the worst kind of hard liquor and bad liquor;

Because it has increased drinking not only among men, but has extended drinking to women and even to children;

Because the most nearly universal Christmas present displayed in the shops, the department stores, the drug stores, and practically in every emporium, during this Christmas season of good will to mankind, were the hip-flasks and cocktail-shakers.

I am opposed to prohibition because it has created more, and more skillful, and more highly remunerated and more dangerous criminals;

And because it has corrupted our forces of law-enforcement, and to a certain degree even our judges;

And because it has made pretenders and falsifiers out of so many of our public officials.

I am opposed to prohibition because it has instituted in the government un-American methods of spying and sneaking and snooping and keyhole-peeping;

And because prohibition fanatics, not content with that, are trying to have the government go further and institute a secret police system, and a system of repression and oppression almost equal to that which wrought the ruin of the Russian government.

What has become of our cherished American freedom of action, our boasted American personal liberty?

All that we held dear in our political system, as well as in our individual independence, has been sacrificed to a fetish.

Any sacrifice might be justified to further a great cause, but prohibition has not furthered the cause.

It has hindered the cause.

It has created intolerable criminal conditions, and intolerable political conditions.

And it has done nothing after ten years' trial to advance the cause of temperance, in which you and I are both sincerely and deeply interested.

Therefore, I think the time has come to call for another plan, a better plan, a more practical plan, which WILL advance the cause of temperance, and will not merely promote crime, discredit law, demoralize the citizenship and prostitute the public service.

DOCTORS PLAN OWN BUILDING

Thirty-two doctors are going to move out of their present respective quarters and install themselves together in a building of their own.

The new building will be erected at Villa st. and Longwood ave., at a cost of about $250,000. Its doctor-tenants will own it, acting as their own landlords. They expect to be transferred by September 1.

The medical colony under one roof will have its own ultra-progressive plant, its own auto parking space, and its own pharmacy. Every office will have running water, gas, and modern electric equipment.

The building will be six stories in height and will be constructed to match the lying-in hospital and the Harvard Medical School dormitory which it adjoins.

ASKS SENATE TO PROBE DRY ENFORCEMENT

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—A Senate investigation of prohibition enforcement was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington.

The resolution which was referred to the Judiciary Committee, would have the Senate Committee "determine the best means and methods for improving enforcement." A "complete investigation and study of the system of enforcement" was called for and a report asked before next January 1.

Earlier this week, W. C. Durant, donor of the prize for a dry enforcement plan, asked that Congress examine into the prohibition situation.

Senator King, Democrat, Utah, today offered a bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury Department to the Justice Department.

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—A last minute attempt by several nationally known patriotic organizations to prevent an address in the Central High school tonight by Norman Angell, author and lecturer, who they characterized as a "menace to national defense and one internationally known as a pacifist," failed when the school board declined to act.

Members of the board said they hesitated to take any action that might "abrogate the right to free speech as guaranteed under the Constitution."

What Shall I Do for Gray Hair?

By ALICE STRAWN

I am often asked for a good way to restore gray, faded or streaked hair. While there are many preparations on the market for the purpose, I know of nothing better than a mixture of good old sage tea and sulphur. You can either prepare the mixture at home yourself, or as most women prefer, buy it already prepared and ready to use.

The correct recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, may be had in Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound. All druggists carry it and since the cost is only 75c a bottle, there is really no need for any woman to go to the bother of preparing it herself. You would be surprised if you knew the number of men and women who employ Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur because its use is undetectable.

You simply moisten a comb or a soft brush with it and draw it through your hair. One small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears and another application or two sees your hair beautifully and evenly restored to its full original color. There is no suggestion of that hard, dyed look that repels fastidious women. I advise any woman — or man — whose hair is turning gray to try Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur.

Approve Hearst Dry Plan

MRS. CURTIS GUILD, widow of a former Republican governor of Massachusetts, and one of the most brilliant women in the Commonwealth, leads a large group of endorsers of William Randolph Hearst's offer of $25,000 for a substitute plan for prohibition.

With her other representatives of a community keenly awake to the serious need of a change in the prohibition law joined hands, favoring the Hearst $25,000 reward offer for the most suitable plan which would bring about "true temperance."

The fearlessness of Mrs. Guild's stand on the matter, although known for many years to her friends may be read in her vigorous and sound defiance of the idea suggested in the offer of Mr. Hearst.

She said:

"Everybody has known for years that I am strongly against any prohibition law. I have continually said that in its present form it is stupid and unenforceable. I believe that prohibition has done more to corrupt and degrade our citizens, both men and women, than any law which has been put upon the statute books within my memory.

WELCOMES THE OFFER.

"Therefore, I welcome the prize offer made by Mr. Hearst and his interest in appealing to the country's masses for a substitute for the 18th amendment. This law, passed by fanatics when all the world was thinking of the war, is not a temperance measure at all, but, on the contrary, is itself so unjust and intemperate that it has led to a storm of violence, corruption and crime.

"The only way we can force Congress to take note of our demand for modification of the law along sensible lines I believe, is by just the course Mr. Hearst has seen fit to follow—cash consideration for the awakening of the country's mind to the evils contained.

"Not only has the prohibition law been a growing menace to American liberty, but a danger to boys and girls as well. Again I say I am glad to know that Mr. Hearst is taking an interest in giving such a generous reward to anybody who will solve the prohibition problem. It is a great deed and a noble one.

"To be sure, the open saloon has been abolished, but at what a price? For every saloon formerly in the cities there are now three speakeasies, where adulterated, if not poisonous, liquor is sold behind closed doors. As we all known neither drinking nor drunkenness has stopped nor in my opinion, even successfully checked, and we have new forms of vice and danger which we never had before. . . . I cannot see, despite what some say, the cessation of this evil unless some action is taken to repeal the Volstead act."

VIEWS OF PASTORS.

The Rev. William L. Stidger, Copley Methodist Church, said:

"Anything that gets the people of America to discussing and thinking about the prohibition question and brings us to a true position which is really the will of the people is a good thing. There can be no real law which is not the will of the people in the long run. I am personally, as all religious leaders ought to be, glad of this prize offer made by Mr. Hearst. It will stimulate thought and arouse the people to renew efforts in the solution of this problem."

The Rev. J. Malcom Smith, Haverhill, approved the plan as follows:

"Everyone knows that I have stood staunchly for the repeal of the 18th amendment. But please, this time, let me out from saying anything more about it. I have done my bit in pointing out the duty of everyone to work toward the removal of the prohibition law."

ATTACKS DRY LAW.

The Rev. Mr. Smith scathingly denounced prohibition three years ago at a dinner given under the direction of the Constitutional Liberty League at the Copley-Plaza. He was one of the principal speakers At that time he declared:

"It is the solemn duty of every man and woman to labor for the removal of this amendment from the Constitution. That act is the most valuable service a citizen can render to the community."

Even then he traced the history of the prohibition amendment and declared: "It was begotten of an unholy alliance between 'big business' and fanatics. Better that America should be poor and free than to degenerate to a condition where wealth accumulates and men decay. The 18th amendment is a brutal violation of the principles on which the Constitution rests. Prohibition is fallacious in theory and demoralizing in practice."

The Rev. Edgar J. Helms of the Morgan Memorial said:

"If there is something better than the prohibition plan I would like to see it and have it tried. My first impression is that a thorough trial is given the present plan. We have been working on this temperance matter of getting alcohol out of the system of the people for many, many years. We have employed all types and manners of efforts in so doing, and finally we came to wiping out the whole matter of alcohol from the system by prohibition. It hasn't been fully tried but if there is something better, we ought to have it."

The Rev. Manley F. Albright of Alston said:

"I hope they get a good one for the $25,000 but my interest is all in the present one now."

N. Y. TO BOGOTA PILOT CRASHES NEAR GOAL

Giradot, Colombia, Jan. 2 (delayed)—The dream of Lieut. Benjamin Mendez, American-trained chief pilot of the Colombian air service, of flying from New York to Bogota, ended here today in a crash at a point 75 miles from his goal.

Lieut. Mendez, who took off from Mitchel Field, November 25 on his adventurous flight, left Girardot late this afternoon, but a few minutes later met with disaster when the plane crashed into a tree and was destroyed. It is forced landing was said to have been due to a poor grade of fuel, preventing his motor from functioning properly.

Mendez was not injured and later took off for Bogota in an Army plane which was sent to his aid.

Lieutenant Mendez, once known as "Benny the Gas Boy" at Curtiss Field, four years ago visited the United States to study aviation and went to work fueling planes and helping mechanics. Eventually he learned to fly and received a pilot's certificate.

Durant for Real Dry Law Test

New York, Jan. 3.—W. C. Durant authorized publication of the following telegram today sent to W. R. Hearst regarding Mr. Hearst's $25,000 prize offer for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment:

W. R. Hearst,
San Simeon,
California:

First, let me congratulate you upon your prize offer of $25,000 for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Neither you nor any other giant publisher ever performed a more notable service than this contribution of yours to the question. Are the American people ready to give up and admit the failure of this, the greatest experiment ever undertaken by a free people?

Your prize contest furnishes the rallying point for those who are ready to admit defeat and want the Eighteenth Amendment repealed.

My contest furnishes a rallying point for those who are not ready to admit defeat, but want an honest attempt made to enforce the law.

You say that in offering a prize on how best to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment "Mr. Durant is really offering a prize on how best to put the Republican party out of power."

It will be news to the Republican party to learn that it will be put out of power by enforcing the highest law of the land, the Constitution.

WAS 'DRY' VICTORY

The Republican party, as a matter of fact, has just won an unprecedented political victory on a platform whose chief issue was enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The principal appeal of the Democratic candidate was his promise to use his high office to urge a relaxation of the liquor laws. Against that appeal millions of votes were massed by men and women determined to suffer no concession to the liquor traffic.

You say that you believe there is "an enormous middle class, which probably is a majority class, who believe in temperance and believe in personal liberty and realize that temperance can be secured without prohibition, and never can be secured with prohibition."

In a disgraceful situation such as now confronts this great country of ours we have the right to ask of every intelligent citizen an answer to the following: "Are you for the bootlegger, the speakeasy and law defiance; or are you for the government, the constitution and law observance?" With respect to the above, there can be no "middle class."

SHIFT OF CITIES

It seems to me that the sentiment of the people on this question is expressed by the voting of representatives they send to Congress, where the liquor laws must be modified if at all.

Each succeeding Congress is drier than the last. Out of 96 members of the Senate, 80 are dry. Of the 435 members of the House, 329 are dry. Among the cities in the last election which turned from the frank liquor appeal of the Democratic candidate and gave their votes to Herbert Hoover, were Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Buffalo and Cincinnati.

If the Republican party was swept into power by its promise of law enforcement, how can it be "put out of power" by carrying out its pledge?

I cannot believe that, pending repeal, you countenance nullification of part of the Constitution by non-observance and non-enforcement, turning the country over to the organized bootleggers, hijackers, political corruptionists and murder gangs now rampant.

I believe that great good will come out of the public interest and public discussion stimulated by your prize offer. In the strict sense of the word the only possible "plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment" is already in existence, embedded in the Constitution of the United States.

Once an amendment to the Constitution has been solemnly enacted into law, it can only be repealed by a vote of two-thirds of each House of Congress, this vote to be ratified by the legislatures of 36 of the 48 States of the Union.

WANTS REAL TEST

It is highly important to know what the people think. My contest brought out part of the answer. I am sure yours will bring more of it.

It is a striking fact that the Eighteenth Amendment was ratified by all but two states. No amendment to the Constitution ever had such a large vote in Congress, was ratified by so many state legislatures, or was ratified in so short a time. We have every reason to think that the American people meant business against the liquor evil and that they mean business still.

For the necessary changes in the enforcement laws we need facts, as President-Elect Hoover says. Therefore, I have suggested a congressional committee to find out what is the matter with the working of our enforcement laws. I have offered to that committee the abundant material in our files, contributed by the 23,000-odd contestants who wrote what they thought should be done. No doubt your contest will contribute a similar mine of material.

I hope that your great influence will be used to secure a congressional investigation.

I am no fanatical dry. I am for law enforcement. If we can't enforce this law, I will be with you for its repeal. But first I want an honest effort to induce the decent people to observe it and force the criminal class to obey it.

'Hip Flask Boys' Had to Give Up $22,647

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 3 (AP)—Hip-flask rum-runners paid $22,647 in fines to United States customs officers on the International Bridges here during 1928 when they were intercepted trying to smuggle a bottle or two of ale or liquor into this country from Canada, T. M. Hennessy, deputy collector of customs in charge of the Falls port, said today.

Fines of $5 for each bottle of liquor and $2 for each bottle of ale were imposed. No arrests were made in these cases, the customs inspectors merely confiscating the contraband and collecting the fines.

During the year 80 automobiles were seized on the bridges in this city and Lewiston and $28,000 worth of Canadian ale and liquor contained in the cars was confiscated. Six freight cars with their cargoes of $150,000 worth of Canadian ale and whiskey were seized in the railroad yards here. The liquor and ale in most cases were destroyed by being thrown from the lower arch bridge into the river.

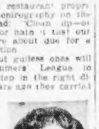
Urges Women Inspect Boston Restaurants

To certain lax restaurant proprietors, the most unpopular in the trade would read: "Clean up—or close up." Rumor has it that unsanitary houses are about due for wholesale inspection.

We hungry, but guiltless ones will have the Consumers League to thank for that step in the right direction. Two years ago they carried on the same sort of a campaign needless to say with startling results. Their present executive secretary, Miss Mary W. Rawmeon, who is also state sub-chairman on social and industrial conditions, says "Local Women's clubs can co-operate with the league in more than one manner. If the work, particularly that of food service, is to be satisfactory, Women's Clubs of Lowell is an excellent example for other clubs. Their food committee has an active chairman and five or six equally active members.



Miss Raymenton discusses Protective Work

"When I make a 'food' trip to Lowell I am met at the station by one of the members of the committee. Together we visit in the course of a day 25 or more bakeries and restaurants. At this rate it does not take very many visits of a day such as to once to every bakery and restaurant in the city.

"In many instances proprietors are glad to know that the members are interested in having food prepared and distributed under clean and healthful conditions, and the women of the clubs are, in turn, glad to feel that the proprietors honor their suggestions. The league looks forward to the day every woman's club in a Massachusetts town where there are food shops will have a working food committee."

With two club announcements before me I am reminded of what William L. Mayberry, a great Constitutional lawyer once said: "It would be a tragic thing if no room or women could be found in this generation with heart enough, or sense enough to make at least an effort to preserve the splendid fabric of constitutional liberty which our forefather's built."

It is safe to say that this was the dominating thought in the minds of a group of women who got together and instituted what is known as the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts. When they gather today for another of their political school sessions, Rear Admiral Andrews will discuss—Our Present United States Navy," and a "Sketch of the Cruiser Bill." Believing that he knows more about upon what other statesmen have written, lecturing both of these subjects, he informs me that his address will be in the form of a series of questions. Mrs. Wellington Wells is leaving the ship of State long enough to speak on the "Mechanics of Legislation," and Jen. William M. Butler will use as its subject, "Organization of Political Parties." Hon. Gaston B. Means on and Amos L. Taylor are scheduled to address members a week from today.

RADIO SERVICE IS MARRED BY SUN SPOTS

For the first time in the history of radio it has been established that sun spots affect radio reception. It was announced today by Prof. H. T. Stetson, of Harvard.

Solar investigations are being undertaken at the Laboratory of Astronomy. The tests include the daily photography of the sun's surface. The measurement of the sun spots, which are regions of electrical disturbances or storm on the surface of the sun, is being carried out in co-operation with the Mt. Wilson observatory, the Yerkes Observatory and the United States Naval Observatory.

"In connection with the investigation of the sun's surface," the professor stated, "we made arrangements with radio station WHBM of Chicago for nightly measurement of the intensity of radio reception, with a view to ascertaining just what effect these electrical storms, which may be compared to cyclones or hurricanes on the earth, have on the strength of radio waves."

After several experiments it was found that between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening was the best time for radio reception.

The measurements of radio intensities was first started by G. W. Pickard of Newton Center in his own private laboratory. Later the instruments were transferred to Cambridge, where the experiments were then carried on under Professor Stetson's direction.

Lord Dawson, King's Physician, Is Ill

London, Jan. 3 (UNS)—The health of Lord Dawson of Penn, chief of the royal physicians attending King George, is causing considerable anxiety among the other doctors, it was learned by International News Service today.

The heavy strain has told upon his highly strung, mercurial temperament and has been intensified by differences between himself and another of the attending physicians, Sir Stanley Hewett, regarding treatment of the case.

BOSTON FOLK ABOARD S. S. FRANCE EUROPE BOUND, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Cambridge and Lowell Are Also Represented by Passengers Voyaging on Palatial Liner

SUPREMELY OBLIVIOUS TO SEARCHING WINDS AND THE chilly kiss of snowflakes is an itinerant company aboard the steamship France bound for the Mediterranean. Society's nomads turn their faces east and sail into the sunshine that makes the Mediterranean into a sparkling blue expanse and paints brightly every ancient town on the inland sea. The France's passengers will see them all, those tucked-away places artlessly simple, and the fashionable spots designedly sophisticated.

THE HAPPY TRAVELERS INCLUDE MISS ROSE STANDISH NICHOLS, who has a charming Beacon Hill establishment filled with treasures of the antique, but who frequently deserts Boston to seek far afield for what treasures she may find in the Eastern Hemisphere. Miss Nichols knows the Old World well and will see many familiar spots as she cries-crosses the Mediterranean via the France and New England on the France is further represented by Dr. P. Somers Smythe and Mrs. Smythe Mrs. Arthur C. Potter of Cambridge, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stevens of Lowell and Mr. and Mrs. Emile F. Welch, before each of whom stretches the voyage de luxe moderns know as the cruise. Several weeks will pass smoothly before faces are turned homeward again.

LIKE UNTO A BIRD OF PARADISE IN ITS 1929 VERSION IS Miss Abby Beveridge, blithesome golden-haired debutante for whom Chicago's exalted sets are making the frivolous pinwheel whirr gladsomely. One of the "four reigning buds" is she spoken of in the Windy City, high praise from a sovereign source, since Chicago's this season crop is intensely individualistic. The paradise plumes at the large and very important Richard G. Crane, Jr., ball flaunted by Miss Beveridge were sky blue, a slender sheath of a frock that became bouffant below the hips via fluttering blue feathers.

THE RICHARD CRANES OF Castle Hill in Ipswich and Chicago are launching their debutante daughter, Miss Florence Crane, magnificently. Her debut ball touched the crest of things social for the Younger Set, and her presentation frock was quite in keeping with other ultra details. She wore a picture creation of stiff ivory white moire, woven in a day when silks and velvets could stand alone. For inspiration the modiste had an old Spanish portrait, and for personal beauty Miss Crane has all the endowment one girl should have. Guests were ravished with the effect of gown and girl. Pink tulle was Miss Bertha Palmer's selection for the evening that scintillated so bravely for Chicago's buds and their cavaliers. Miss Palmer, daughter of the Honore Palmers, of course, belongs with Chicago's most important feminine sprigs on the fashionable tree—her place in the social sun being an inherited one. Miss Beveridge was introduced to Boston's Younger Set Hundred at what everyone voted a lovely party given by Mr. and Mrs. George Swift.

CHICAGO WAS FORMERLY Mrs. Swift's home and now there is a handsome dark-eyed Miss Ruth Swift, out a year, to beautifully foil the golden-shaded Miss Beveridge, both girls to be given a thrilling good time here and in the Windy City. Miss Swift went West directly after Christmas and now is right in the midst of the Chicago whirl. The dancing debs there found one evening completely filled; more than filled, in truth, when two festivities out of several were the Crane ball and the dinner dance Messrs. Robert Allerton and Frederick Bartlett gave for Miss Crane, Miss Palmer and Miss Beveridge. Chicago is very gay this holiday season.

THE B. H. B. DRAPER SONS arrive home to find Boston experiencing a taste of winter, their coats of tan acquired along the Florida Keys the envy of school and college mates. Life aboard a Florida houseboat suited these young men excellently during a vacation from studies and afforded a go at the sportive sailfish. Without one or more of those deep sea creatures to his credit your fisherman who fares southward armed with proper paraphernalia considers the trip lacking somewhat of its sportive savor.

DAILY, IF NOT QUITE hourly, they descend on our desks—the Rats of patronesses always happy to lend distinction and eclat to concerts, recitals, benefits and musicales. Important names, interesting names, illustrious names all appear on the roll of acclaimers who thus signify their willingness to sponsor Miss Dorothy Speare's Symphony Hall appearance January 9.

MRS. ALVAN TUFTS FULLER and Mrs. Frank G. Allen supply officialdom's portion of sponsorship. Mesdames Robert G. Dodge, Homer Albers, G. Winthrop Brown, Robert Treat Paine, Henry B. Sawyer, Edwin C. Streeter, Richard W. Hale, Godfrey L. Cabot, William H. Coolidge, Henry B. Day, Guy W. Currier, S. Harold Greene, Ernest Howse and Manning Williams are listed, also Miss Ada Comstock and Miss Rose L. Dexter, all interested in the charming Miss Speare, who has a voice cultivated abroad and a literary ability—two gifts that already have brought her fame.

Favors Air Police to Keep World Peace

Geneva, Switzerland, Jan. 3 (AP)—Clifford B. Harmon of New York, president of the International League of Aviators, has announced his intention of having a resolution submitted to the council of the League of Nations looking toward a technical study of his recent proposal for an international police force of aviators.

Col. Harmon now advocates creation of an honor section in the league to be known as the "silver wings of peace," composed of leading men and women fliers, such as Lindbergh, Pelletier D'Oisy, Ferrarin, Lady Hailey and Lady Heath, who, with others, would spread throughout the world the peace ideals voiced by the League of Nations and the Kellogg pact.

In event of an international difficulty they would fly over the countries in dispute and drop tracts to the inhabitants emphasizing the world's desire that they live at peace with their neighbors. If this moral force should not avail, the League could then ask the international air police force to take drastic action.

NO SALUTE FOR HOOVER

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Although not a shot will be fired in salute to President-elect Hoover next Sunday on his return to American soil, the entire scouting fleet and control force will be assembled in the vicinity of Hampton Roads on the Utah screams between the Virginia capes.

Plans made public at the Navy Department today showed that nearly the whole of the Atlantic forces will be concentrated at Norfolk over the week-end preparatory to their departure January 8 for the annual water maneuvers near the Canal Zone.

Commanded by Vice-Admiral M. N. Taylor, on his flagship the Wyoming, and Rear-Admirals H. Ingram and H. D. Day, the second battleship division, including the Arkansas, Florida and Utah, and the third fight cruiser division, the Richmond, Detroit, Cincinnati and Marblehead, will be assembled at the ports, together with the 16 submarines of the control force, under Rear-Admiral Frank R. Upham.

In accordance with the President-elect's request, the salute of an exPresident given him in Latin-American ports, will be dispensed with and the Navy Department officials today thought it unlikely that there will be even the dipping of flags or the manning of rails as the U.S.S. Louisville is to be anchorage.

Fifty commercial airplanes operating commercial airplanes throughout the country were asked today by Paul Henderson, special assistant of the parade committee of the Hoover inauguration committee, to send planes to participate in the March 4 ceremonies.

The plan is to have the machines in the air all at one time, to circle the Capitol, double back and forth over the line of parade and to circle the White House after Herbert Hoover enters it as President.

WARMER IN HUB TONIGHT; NO STORM SOON

Montpelier, Vt., Jan. 3 (AP)—The cold wave here was 29 degrees below zero today, unofficial readings showed. This was a drop of more than 40 degrees during the night.

A rise in temperature ranging from 10 to 20 degrees in the Ohio valley, following closely on the heels of the cold snap which hit Greater Boston late last night, is officially predicted to be reflected in higher mercury marks here tomorrow.

Despite the chill which penetrated the wraps of early morning commuters today, no excessively low temperatures were recorded hereabouts, the minimum of 21 above being registered between 7 and 8 o'clock, 4 degrees above the lowest experienced thus far this season.

Northern New England, however, which bore the brunt of the frigid wave, reported temperatures below the zero notch. Northfield, Vt., registered 18 below, Greenville, Me., 4 below, and Burlington, 2 below.

With the promised departure of the current cold, there appear on the weather map continuous indications of developing storm, but the official forecaster here is undecided as to the immediate movement of the menace.

Forecast for Boston: Partly cloudy and warmer tonight and Friday; moderate southerly, shifting to westerly, winds. The minimum temperature tonight will be near 28.

Her Gems Found

TINY RAILROAD HURLS ROADS INTO COURT

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—A nine-mile railroad threw before the Supreme Court today a challenge of the Interstate Commerce Commission's valuation methods while the railroad and shipping world looked on the impending battle as one of the most important in the history of American transportation.

The St. Louis & O'Fallon Railroad came into court to argue its contention that the commission's procedure in attempting to recapture excess earnings was invalid. Three men who served on the Cabinet of Chief Justice Taft while he was President are among counsel in the case—Walter L. Fisher, George W. Wickersham and Charles Nagel. Fisher and Wickersham are on the side of the government, while Nagel is of the railroad's counsel.

No controversy in recent years has attracted wider attention in business circles where the control and influence of valuation as the basis for Government regulation of rates is of vital importance.

Among lawyers in the cities there is a sharp difference of opinion as to whether the railroad, in view of the lower court decision in favor of the Government, can present a case which will bring a sweeping decision on the whole valuation fabric of the commerce commission.

U. S. Public Debt Is Reduced 828 Million in Year

Washington, Jan. 3 (INS)—The American public debt was reduced $828,000,000 in 1928, bringing the government's gross obligations to $17,599,016,600 at the end of the year, the Treasury announced today.

This represents a reduction since the peak of the debt, in August, 1919, of about $8,000,000,000.

BAN POLITICS IN WATER POWER, SAYS GARDINER

Augusta, Me., Jan. 3 (AP)—Gov. William Tudor Gardiner, speaking before the joint session of the Maine Legislature in his inaugural address today recommended the substitution of a "pay-as-you-use" for the present "pay-as-you-go" policy in highway construction and the "divorcing" of the subject of water power from politics.

The new governor, referring to water power, called upon the members of the 58th Legislature to still the voices that are raised in attempts to subvert economic affairs to political ends.

Maine now has the so-called "Fernald act" passed in 1913, which prohibits the exportation of hydro-electric power. Frequent efforts have been made to repeal or amend the act but they have failed either in one of the houses of the Legislature or through veto by the governor.

The Kobe has a tonnage of 4515 gross, is 399 feet in length, 49.4 feet beam, and 26 feet deep. She was built in 1901 by Craig, Taylor & Co. and sailed from Pilmo for this coast late in October.

Naval, military and air force honors will be announced this month, but the others will have to wait several months.

Sir James was created a baronet in 1913. He has been taking a prominent part in public life, although his sympathy to interviews remains as strong as ever.

DIVA TELLS WHY SHE'S OFF LOVE

For 18 years, Madame Frances Alda of the Metropolitan Opera, was ostensibly the happy wife of Guilio Gatti-Casazza, the director. Then there was a divorce. Now, in golden notes, the diva tells why. "I'm domestic," she says, "I wanted children. The only ones we have are adopted. So I am through with marriage. We are still good friends. That is all."

INDICT BOY OF 12 IN SLAYING

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 3—Frank Rokas, twelve-year-old Nashua boy, today faces trial here for murder, the Hillsborough County grand jury having returned an indictment against him in the slaying of his pal, Adam Goodwich, on October 23 because the latter "squealed" about their loot from a theft. Goodwich was found shot to death.

Rokas is at present confined to the State Industrial school here. His indictment was one of 56 returned by the grand jury, the largest number of true bills returned in many years.

The boy is the youngest ever to face a murder charge in New Hampshire courts. He is the second juvenile to be indicted in Hillsborough County in recent years.

QUESTION MARK STILL IN AIR

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Jan. 3 (AP)—The third day of the refueling endurance flight by the army's monoplane Questing Mark began at 7:26 o'clock this morning, just after it had taken on a new supply of fuel from refueling plane No. 2.

The refueling plane, piloted by Lieut. Odas Moon, passed 150 gallons of gasoline to the Question Mark in a six minute contact here shortly after 7 a. m.

The Question Mark's three motors were reported to be working perfectly after 48 hours of duty.

The Question Mark surpassed the time record set in the only previous American refueling endurance flight at 8:45 o'clock last night, and the next goal was the world's endurance record of 60 hours 1 minute, which can be broken by flight until 9:31 o'clock tonight. The Question Mark was today the only survivor of three endurance flight attempts in the West.

Miss Bobbie Trout, 18, set a new woman's endurance record of 42 hours, 11 minutes when she landed at Los Angeles at 6:36 p. m. last night, thus bettering the record of eight hours, six minutes held by Viola Gentry.

Blaine M. Tuxhorn and Leonard Rhiner were disqualified at 2:48 p. m. Wednesday at Mineola, Mo., after 16 hours, 54 minutes aloft in their assault on the refueling endurance record, but they obtained a new record for flight through ground refueling.

Girl's Altitude Record Officially Recognized

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—The altitude of 29,570 feet attained by Miss Louise McPhetridge at Oakland, Cal., December 7, was recognized today by the National Aeronautic Association as the highest attained by a woman in America under official supervision.

The Aeronautic Association said they had no information on the record of Lady Heath in England and that her highest altitude under official, recognized supervision in this country was 16,620 feet.

Coolidge Told Farm Bill Has Slim Chance

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—A belief that there is little prospect of enactment of farm relief legislation by the House at this session was expressed to President Coolidge today by Chairman Snell of the House rules committee.

Mr. Snell, whose committee largely determines the order in which legislation comes before the House, said the President made no comment on his statement. Republican leaders in both House and Senate are at odds as to whether farm legislation should be considered now or held over until the Hoover administration takes office.

Lord Chancellor of England Takes Bride

London, Jan. 3 (AP)—The Lord Chancellor, Lord Hailsham, was married at Westminster Abbey to Mrs. Clive Lawrence today. The greatest care was taken to secure privacy at the ceremony, and only a few privileged persons carrying specially printed cards were allowed to pass the police at the door.

GUARD ITALIAN MINISTER IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 3—Alert for any possible demonstration by anti-Fascisti or radicals, detectives today guarded Pietro Balbo, Italian minister of aviation, from the minute of his arrival here at the Pennsylvania station. The Italian official, who is touring the country, went immediately to his hotel, where he was watched over by detectives of the radical squad under Capt. John Lyons.

The elaborate police protection accorded the visiting dignitary was a precautionary measure against possible anti-Fascisti outbreaks. According to information at police headquarters, Carlo Tresca, Italian radical, last night addressed a meeting of the Rand school, at which pamphlets with Balbo's picture were distributed. These circulars characterized Balbo as a "murderer."

Detectives also were sent to Union sq. to preserve order at a contemplated outdoor demonstration against Balbo's visit. Known radicals were to be arrested on sight, police said.

3 IN 'GUNLESS HOLDUP' STEAL MAIL, TRUCK

A truck containing three bags of valuable mail addressed to the John Hancock Life Insurance Company was stolen "under the driver's nose" today by two apparently unarmed robbers who accomplished their hold coup in the insurance company's yard not a block from police headquarters.

John Hancock officials declared the lost mail did not, in their opinion, contain any substantial sum in cash or money orders.

The truck was operated by Timothy Sullivan of Cambridge, an employee of a Commercial Wharf auto delivery firm. He had just driven into the John Hancock yard from the Back Bay postoffice which is almost across the street.

As Sullivan dismounted two men, he said, jostled him to one side. They leaped to the seat, threw the car in gear and rolled away. Sullivan ran to police headquarters.

The John Hancock Company's collection department reported to the authorities that the firm's morning batch of registered mail and mail from branch offices had been received safely. The sacks stolen, it was said, contained miscellaneous communications, including few if any negotiable assets.

FLU

Is Now Epidemic!

Compared with 1918, this epidemic, so far, is mild; and yet, in spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency demand for more and more Vicks VapoRub. Over 432,000 jars now being produced daily.

How Best To Use Vicks VapoRub

1. AS A PREVENTIVE

Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.

2. IF A COLD STARTS

If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-covering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking the weakened system may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks.

Heed even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do

VICKS VAPORUB

FULLER KISSES FLAG, LEAVING STATE HOUSE

A crowd that thronged the State House balcony cheered. Then ten by ten, the ex-Governor descended stone by stone, by the gate below. Mrs. Fuller and his four children waited for him.

That lonely walk was in keeping with the tradition of years. It was dramatic, too.

Alvan T. Fuller might very well have been thinking of other occasions when he walked along—occasions less simplified by precedent, less picturesquely suited to public appreciation.

Perhaps the retiring governor, frock-coated, silk hatted, and debonair was remembering his unheralded, triumphal trip of midnight to the death house where, alone, he talked to Sacco and Vanzetti, almost on the eve of their execution.

The echoing steel corridor which Governor Fuller trod then at the State Prison was lonelier than today's great, deserted staircase.

A more tangible reminder of Sacco and Vanzetti was at the ex-governor's heels today. Before he could take the extended hand of Mrs. Fuller at the State House gate, Gardner Jackson, former secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee, confronted him.

Jackson attempted to hand Fuller a book, "The Letters of Sacco and Vanzetti." It had a scathing foreword, written on the fly leaf in Jackson's own hand. Newspapermen read the foreword later. The retiring governor did not.

Levelling a stern glance at Jackson, he struck the volume from the young man's hand. It lay on the sidewalk until the Fuller family had entered their waiting automobile and had left on foot for their Beacon st. home.

It was a firm, brisk, not unhappy tread with which the governor, now no longer governor, descended the steps on Beacon hill today.

The walk down the State House stairs today wasn't so long after all. Perhaps it wasn't as lonely as it looked.

Perhaps that was why the retiring Governor smiled.

BLAINE HITS AT BRITAIN OVER KELLOGG PACT

Washington, Jan. 3—A new attack on the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty was launched this afternoon when Senator Blaine (R.) of Wisconsin, sponsored a reservation which would condition American ratification upon conditional approval by Great Britain.

Charging that the British declaration of approval contained a "new Article Ten"—such as proved the basis or the old League of Nations fight—Blaine proposed that the United States ratify the treaty only on the understanding that "the British note shall not imply an admission of any reserve in connection therewith."

SUBJUGATES INDIA.

The British note, written by Austen Chamberlain, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to Alanson B. Houghton, American Ambassador to Great Britain, declared that the "protection of certain regions against attack is to the British Empire a measure of self defense." This was understood to refer to India and the British dominions.

Blain declared the British Empire would disturb under the Kellogg-Briand treaty all that she did not get under Article Ten of the league covenant.

"If America adheres to the peace treaty," he charged, "we legalize Great Britain's dominion in all the world and we acknowledge that less than 46,000,000 subjects of Great Britain shall have the right to rule over 400,000,000 people without their consent and against their protest."

"LEGALIZES WAR."

"This proposed formula for peace stabilizes and legalizes the spoils of war obtained by the greatest empire in the world. It is a one-sided declaration of British policy. By the Kellogg-Briand treaty, America agrees to a decree quieting the title in the name of the British empire to one-fourth of the world's inhabitable area.

"We cannot consent to a treaty that obligates America to recognize and respect the claim of any nation to the right of independence of other nations."

Zionism Ruined, Says Wise; No—Lipsky

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Two prominent Zionists returned on the Berengaria today with opposite views as to the value to Zionists of the action of the general council of the world Zionist organization in Berlin in voting to merge the interests of Zionists and non-Zionists through the new general agency for perfecting a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who went to Berlin in an effort to defeat the merger, asserted the Zionist movement has been wrecked by the council's action.

Louis Lipsky, president of the Zionist organization in America, expressed great satisfaction with the outcome.

ARMY BILL FOR $435,428,415 UP TO HOUSE

Washington, Jan. 3 (AP)—Carrying large increases for flood control, army aviation expansion and construction of military roads, the annual appropriation bill was reported today to the House.

Calling for the expenditure of $435,428,415 by the War Department during the next fiscal year, the measure was the fifth of nine regular annual supply bills to come before the House this session, four having been passed.

The total, providing $328,058,815 for national defense and $107,369,600 for non-military purposes, represents an increase of $35,111,721 over the current fiscal year appropriations and an increase of $256,008 over budget estimates.

The most military item in the bill is $122,305,615 for the army, which is an increase of $3,210,995 over this year's pay fund, and is recommended by a subcommittee of the House appropriations committee for the air corps, advancement of officers to higher grades, providing for increased pay of retired list expansion. The measure contemplates no change in the existing army strength, number 118,750, but would raise the officers' strength from 11,733 to approximately 12,000.

$50,000,000 FOR WATER

In the non-military provisions $50,000,000 is included for the care and improvement of more than 600 rivers and harbors across some 500 projects, and $15,000,000 is appropriated for repair or maintenance of flood control works on the Mississippi tributaries, and $10,000,000 for flood control on the Sacramento river, California.

A new item of $1,370,000 is included to be returned to California on a recommendation by the California Debris Commission that the federal government share one-third interest of one-sixth of the expense of the Sacramento project. For operation of dam No. 2 at Muscle Shoals $750,000 is provided.

The projects to be covered by the $50,000,000 rivers and harbors item are the same as those submitted to Congress by the chief of army engineers and made public December 4 last.

$353,518,083 FOR AIR.

Other big items in the measure include $144,445,468 for army militia, militiamen pay, $3,405,062 for seacoast defenses, $17,258,348 for coast artillery, $42,818,726 for the National Guard, $9,833,129 for the organized reserves, $3,434,875 for civilian military training camps, $10,-315,000 for the Panama canal, $8,-700,000 for the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers and $244,578 for national military parks.

The air service item provides an increase of $8,720,121 over current funds, would acquire 434 planes, purchase 287 planes next year for the regular branch, organized reserves and National Guard, 72 of which would go to the latter and be sold for cost of wood, fabric and metal to the five-year enrollment program up to within 100 planes of the total authorized.

For coast defenses, provision is made toward installation of twelve 16-inch guns and emplacements, addition of eight 12-inch guns, addition of eight 6-inch guns, addition of 2 10-inch turret batteries in Alaska, wealth for continuing construction of supplements for 16-inch guns at Fort Monroe, Va., and Fort Hancock, N. J., and for certain minor armament in the Canal Zone, including anti-aircraft batteries.

The National Guard item provides for increasing the present enlisted strength by 2600 to 190,000, provides for construction at state camps of about $13,000,000 for the year, and the reserve officers training corps the appropriation is based upon an average enrollment of 12,147 for next year, an increase of 2000. Summer students. Approximately 4000 men attended civilian military training camps this fiscal year.

Of the Panama Canal appropriation $1,000,000 would provide for continuation of the Alhajuela dam project.

The bill carries an item for purchase of between six and nine land tanks of a type developed and quite superior type."

Power problems, highway improvement and tax revision were the major subjects stressed by the Governor.

GEN. BOOTH TOLD OF MOVE TO DEPOSE HIM

London, Jan. 3 (AP)—Gen. Bramwell Booth, for 18 years head of the Salvation Army, has finally been told on his sick bed at Southwold that the high council has been called and there is a movement to depose him.

It was a great shock to the aged general, who said: "Whatever people may think about the government of the army, they must feel this is rough on me."

It was a tragic moment for the general. For weeks he had been ill and at one time his life was despaired of. Pride of his condition his doctors declined to allow him to be told of the summoning of the high council fearing that the shock would be too much for him to bear.

But he himself finally became suspicious that something was in the air because of the absence of his daughter, Catherine, from home, and he began asking questions.

Finally the doctors decided his condition was such that he could be told. The news was broken to him by his wife and Catherine. He finally realized the significance of the move and the shock was so great that he spent a restless night.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the rest advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

INDUSTRY IN TREND TOWARD SMALL TOWNS

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Middle West Utilities Co economist finds industry entering line with a trend toward small towns for factory locations. He declares the necessity [illegible] ing enterprises in big cities has largely disappeared. This is reports, is based on electricity transportation facilities and widespread electric power distribution have marked the end of the concentration in industry. We imagine there is a good deal more than this to be said on both sides of the question.

Many students of the situation declare the trend of population is growing stronger toward the larger cities

Charles F. Mitchell, former Boston banker, president of the offiion-dollar National City Co., Bank of New York, is not an inveterate optimist.

Colonel
Chas. E. Mitchell Leonard P. Ayres

Consequently his opinion that the outlook at the turn of the year is optimistic carries more weight than a similar opinion from some others. Mitchell is the only banker I know of who turns to pedestrianism to keep fit, walking never less than five miles a day in the open air.

• • •

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, nationally known statistician and economist, is another cautiously not always pessimistic. Today he seems to take a cheerful view of the situation when he says, "A decline in activity now would break the precedents of the past half century."

• • •

Studying stock market activity, Col Ayres finds the dollar value of New York Stock Exchange transactions during 1928 ranged from 7 per cent of bank clearings in the lowest month to 14 per cent in the highest month In 1903 the value of stock trading amounted to 20 per cent of clearings in one month.

• • •

Of importance to industry are the dates on which [illegible] year nearly all but Labor Day break on the week Washington's birthday comes on the last Monday in May and July 4, the Thanksgiving [illegible] comes on [illegible] as usual we prefer to [illegible] signs for really long week-ends making Saturday [illegible] for many. That is the reason why what is usually one of the best New England months at seashore or mountain.

• • •

November 11, the new Massachusetts holiday, observed for which was a bone of contention in 1926, falls on Monday, as does also the local holiday of December 17. Oct. 12 comes on Saturday.

• • •

It has long been the goal of national leaders to have the postal service self supporting. Postmaster-General Harry New, retiring March 4, 1930 of that goal for this year last reported. If the franking privilege had been abolished, the goal would have been better than reached.

England keeps the Wright plane, but the New York and Boston stock exchanges keep the Wright Aero.

We mentioned recently that traveling salesmen are among the "vanishing Americans." Their numbers [illegible] reduced to the by-ground [illegible] fewer men can cover via the auto. Now I am told the last official count showed the number of traveling salesmen redu ed by [illegible] Probably the greater use of the telephone is also a factor.

• • •

Speaking of taxes, did you ever stop to think that the safer cars are the ones now mostly penalized in property taxation, tax in the guise of registration fees, and also necessarily in gasoline taxation, since they go fewer miles per gallon, 900 being overlooked by so-called "exserts" is charging more for the driver's license for the heavier automotive vehicles.

• • •

And we have frequently questioned the justice or need for charging the medium and larger cars higher prices for insurance. A large house is, of course, charged no more per $1000 for fire risk than a small house. Think that over.

• • •

It is probable that the small investor will again reap the greatest benefits. This is the type of individual who is interested in selecting his stock, works on a most conservative basis, either outright or on substantial margin, and has patience, which is one of the greatest virtues in stock market affairs. The gambling type suffers badly unless he is extremely fortunate. The greatest danger lies in overtrading even in outright gambling. Many people follow shares of low prices on the theory that the "odds" are in their favor. As a matter of fact, the highest grade stocks, which usually sell at higher level, hold out the greatest promise of profit and likewise furnish that assurance of safety which is desired, even in reasonable speculation.

Boston Men Among 'Big 10' in Wall Street Activity

WITH the close of 1928, there ended the greatest year in stock market history.

Tremendous public participation in the market was one of the outstanding characteristics. The participation was influenced and largely brought about by the activities of the "Big Ten."

Who are the "Big Ten?"

These leaders alone, it may be estimated conservatively, reaped more than $100,000,000 gains from [illegible]

In all previous Wall Street [illegible] [illegible] but the [illegible] at large, they are mysterious, unidentified personalities, felt as influences rather than as facts.

The name "Big Ten" was first given to the most powerful group of market operators early in 1924, since then it has been universally accepted and is recognized throughout the world as referring to William C. Durant, Arthur W. Cutten and their associates.

Along with Mr. Durant and Mr. Cutten [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Raskob, Matthew C. Brush of Boston, [illegible] Durant, Joseph Tod[illegible] and James A. Talbot of California, and three of the best known motor magnates of Detroit.

CAPACITY CROWD FOR TITLE MAT FRAY

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN — THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1929

"JACK DEMPSEY is on his way to Miami to talk things over with Tex Rickard who has just kayoed an attack of appendicitis," said Mr. Boston today. "If the Tiger will promise to stage a comeback this year I believe Rickard's recovery will be very rapid.

"Doctors will tell you that the mental attitude of a patient means a great deal. I don't hesitate in declaring that Rickard's mental attitude will be 100 per cent plus if the Tiger agrees to pull on the big mittens once more for one of those million dollar scraps.

"Dempsey wants to fight, but doesn't intend to return to the ring unless the winner of the heavyweight combinations is the kind of scrap per he figures is suited to his own style. In other words, Dempsey does not wish to face a boxer who can move around and use a left hand.

"The real reason why Dempsey refused to fight last year was because he knew Tunney could box him any time they started. Gene has the box ing style to offset Dempsey's terrible rushes. He is also blessed with a nimble pair of feet, which keep him out of danger most of the time with a number pair of feet, which keep him out of danger most of the time

"I UNDERSTAND Dempsey does not care to fight Jack Sharkey again. He has told his advisers that Sharkey had him virtually out at the end of the second round of their famous 'Fair or Foul' affair. "Dempsey would much rather take on Paulino or Heeney. He told me the day of the Tunney-Heeney bout in New York that he felt he could lick out Honest Tom in a couple of heats. And Jack spoke from the heart.

"If Dempsey got a peek at Paulino the night the Basque licked Von Porat on the Garden. He saw Paulino sag under Von Porat's wallops. The next day found Dempsey in the gym. Would Jack like to tackle a New Yorker called Bob Paulino, who is a cinch to lick? Now you ask one, buddy.

"DEMPSEY has been mentioned by Rickard as possible referee for the Sharkey-Stribling bout at Miami. This talk is 100 per cent bally hoo.

"Dempsey would not consent to referee such a bout as he would feel that he might be placed in an embarrassing position in the event of a [illegible] was trying to get rid of the [illegible]

"[illegible] is due to the fact he has re[illegible] in New York when Jack Sharkey battles K. O. [illegible]

"There will also be a set-to when Jim [illegible] and Tom O'Rourke [illegible] Garden the latter part of this month.

"I'M not sure Paul Bowser, who is promoting the Sonnenberg-Lewis bout at the Boston Garden tomorrow night, isn't interested in a setto. He has one other than for standing room tickets.

Wind Is True Test of Golfing Ability

By BOBBY JONES
National Amateur Champion

IN any open championship it is interesting to note the havoc wrought among the leading competitors by even one windy day. Nothing has yet been devised which provides such an infallible method of separating the sheep from the goats. The separation is not always accomplished on the basis of inherent ability, but a gusty day always annihilates the competitor who has been eking good scores out of poor golf.

I can think of no more apt illustration of this process of separation than what happened to me in the Western Open in 1920.

On the first two days the air was [illegible] and the course very fast. At no time was I playing what the English call "convincing" golf, but [illegible] were never out [illegible] and I had [illegible] first [illegible] 75 on the second.

But the next day dawned [illegible] and I found [illegible] I [illegible] the [illegible] was now [illegible] ing, is a different matter. On that day we had a real [illegible] and up as we did hitting the ball.

It is a problem indeed to play any shot correctly when all the time there is [illegible] of your feet. There is [illegible] to [illegible] on a day like that. The main [illegible] to keep the ball some way, some how and somehow.

University Club Loses to Toronto Six

Toronto University downed the University Club in the Garden, 3 to 1.

Toronto scored one in each period Whitehead, Paul, Mel Harly, Mc Mylor and Stewart [illegible] whirling through the University defense.

No special show of skill is required to overcome a wind of less than velocity. It is surprising how little directional effect it has on a [illegible] of a ball, which is [illegible] back.

Of course, a head wind greatly [illegible] range and often makes it impossible to pitch some of the [illegible] holes in two shots. But a well-hit shot will ring [illegible] to its projected line until its force is almost entirely spent.

At the end of its flight, the ball may slide this way or that according to the wind, but that small amount of drift is easily allowed for.

Of the quartet, Dundee was perhaps the greatest earner. He must have gathered unto himself a gross of close to $1,000,000.

But the New York State Athletic Commission stepped in—and then it ruled him out. It did not say he was too old, too pathetic as a performer. It was too merciful for that. It only stated that his most recent match had been too unsatisfactory to warrant its sanction of a battle with the rugged and young Al Singer.

KID KAPLAN TO GET TEST IN JADICK GO

The double wind-up [illegible] which has marked many of [illegible] ring attractions at the new Boston Garden, will be introduced by Promoter Eddie Mack at the next show to be staged at the new sports palace [illegible]

One big [illegible] parts of the Garden makes it possible for Promoter Mack to stage those double feature events and the appearance of Louis Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Ct., former featherweight champion of the world, who will be pitted against Johnny Jadick of Philadelphia in one of the features, is an event which already has aroused the interest of the fans.

Kaplan who was forced to abdicate the featherweight crown on account of the fact that he could not make the division, but was unable to make the required weight of 126 pounds, is now one of the leading contenders for Sammy Mandell's crown.

[illegible]

Jadick, who is a product of Benny Leonard and Gene Tunney, is to give each of these ring stars a hard battle and it is expected that the Nutmeg boy will be the most outstanding of the champion.

During the past year, Kaplan has proved his worth as a ring star, as he has won over such [illegible] Bobby Mack, Tommy George, Jim Bee, Lew Hoad, Phil Pinard and on New Year's Day, in Philadelphia, he easily defeated Battling King.

Yet Kaplan, with all his punching ability and ring experience, is expected to meet the most formidable lightweight he has stepped into the ring with when he takes on Jadick, who beat Flowers here and who lost a decision after an eyelash to Honeyboy Finnegan.

Rosenbloom-Payne Bout Is Put Over

TEXTILE INTERESTS FORECAST PROSPERITY

N. E. MILL MERGER IS PLANNED

With "Boost New England" as their slogan, textiles' interests in this section today announced their faith in the future, at the same time predicting an upward march from now on in the industry.

Great pools already started and in contemplation were taken by textile leaders as the basis for their premise of a progressive tendency in the industry, based upon the progressive spirit of financiers, officials and executives in the mills.

In Boston, textile leaders received today with interest a statement from Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, issued at Washington, in which cotton cloth and cotton garments manufacturers are urged to cooperate in an effort to secure adjustment in present tariff rates.

Hearings on revision of the tariff schedules will begin before the House Ways and Means Committee in Congress shortly.

"Manufacturers of cotton fabrics, according to my observation, have a growing appreciation of their community of interest with the manufacturers of garments made of cotton goods," says Congresswoman Rogers.

RATE ADJUSTMENT

"Imports of certain types of garments made of cotton cloth have been increasing and domestic manufacturers are facing foreign competition rather keenly. The present results not altogether from the growing number of garments being imported, but also from the fact that the lower prices at which the foreign garments are imported result in a influence on the prices of garments of domestic manufacture.

"The equalization of duties on a particular fabric may be adjusted at a level sufficient to prevent that cloth being sent into this country but that cloth manufactured into a shirt or a pair of pajamas in a foreign country where the costs of labor are much lower than ours, enters this country in the form of a garment with entry.

"Furthermore, and curiously enough the present rates of duty on these garments made of cotton fabrics are lower than those which apply on the very fabrics which enters into the garment. To my mind, this situation needs correction.

NEW HOLDING COMPANY

"The manufacturers of cotton cloths and of cotton garments are appreciative of this situation, and I understand are organizing an effort to secure adjustments in the tariff rates which will remove the present inconsistencies."

Associated Textile Companies, a Massachusetts trust, has been organized to acquire through exchange the common stocks in cotton cloth mills in which the Butler Family is largely interested, viz.: Butler Mill of New Bedford, New Bedford Cotton Mills Corporation, and the Hoosac Cotton Mills of North Adams. With 308,000 spindles and 7000 looms, the consolidated concern will be the largest fine cotton goods unit in the industry.

Former United States Senator William M. Butler was elected president of the new company at the organization meeting held here. He is also a trustee. Others are: Frederic H. Nitner, Boston; Frederick M. Crane, Jr., Dalton; Henry Hornblower, Boston; Thomas F. Greenough, New Bedford; Frank J. Hale and Morgan Butler, Boston; vice-president, Morgan Butler, Boston; treasurer, W. H. Underdown, New Bedford; secretary, James F. Bacon, Boston.

EXCHANGE RATES

Terms of the proposed exchange are as follows: One share of Associated Textile Companies stock for each share of Butler Mill, which common, and has 125,000 spindles company is capitalized at $2,300,000 and 2950 looms; two shares of the new stock for each common share of New Bedford Cotton Mills Corporation, which company has $1,650,000 common and $750,000 preferred, and is equipped with 73,000 spindles and 1759 looms; three shares of new stock for each common share of Hoosac Cotton Mills, capitalized at $600,000 common and $750,000 preferred, and equipped with 88,000 spindles and 2300 looms.

Common stockholders of Hoosac Cotton Mills and New Bedford Cotton Mills Corporation, which are very closely owned, have agreed to the proposed exchange, as have the largest interests in Butler Mills. If all stockholders in the latter company accept the exchange, Associated Textile Companies will have outstanding 62,000 shares of no par value.

Butler Mill stock is the only one of the three common stocks affected which has a market. It is quoted at 40 bid a few days ago.

ALL-AMERICA RADIO PARLEY JANUARY 31

Washington, Jan. 3—A North American conference to arrange a distribution of available high frequency radio channels will be held in Ottawa probably January 31.

Indications point to a bitter fight with Canada, Mexico and Cuba aligned against the United States because of dissatisfaction with radio facilities, either high frequency or the channels within the broadcast band.

The Federal Radio Commission, State Department and probably the Navy Department will be represented at Ottawa to work out an agreement.

The radio commission recently assigned many short waves, but reserved 88 channels, announcing their distribution would be subject to discussion by the North American countries.

The proposed agreement would allocate the entire band among the various types of service, determine the standard of separation, the number of channels available for each type of service and to which types of service and in which portions of the band there may be application of stations. The channels reserved for exclusive use would determine the number to be assigned to each country.

HELD IN THREAT LETTER CASE

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—Accused of sending threatening letters to many persons prominent in public life, Abraham Rosenberg, 27-year-old jewelry clerk, was being held by post office authorities today. They said more than 1200 threatening letters were found in his home.

Many of the letters, some of which contained an ordeal, were signed with the name of Wesley Fulders, a brother-in-law to Rosenberg. Several months ago Fulders was arrested on a charge of sending the letters. He was held in jail three days but was acquitted.

Later Rosenberg's sister, Miss Rebecca Rosenberg, was arrested but she also was later acquitted.

WILKINS PARTY AIDED IN WORK BY SNOWFALL

San Francisco, Jan. 3—News of encouraging weather was received here from Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic expedition today.

A short message received by the San Francisco Examiner's wireless station, KUP, from the whaling vessel, Hektoria, anchored at Captain Wilkins' base, declared snow was falling and filling in the rugged volcanic surface of Graham Land.

One of the chief obstacles to date faced by the expedition has been the mild weather, forcing the use of wheels on the airplanes instead of skis.

Worcester Man Killed by Gas

A gas jet, half open, was quite evidence of the cause of accidental death.

TWO GIRLS HELD BY AUTOMATIC ELEVATOR

Worcester, Jan. 3—Combined efforts of the police, firemen, ambulance driver and attendant physician and half a hundred citizens, were brought into play here to rescue two girls who were imprisoned for hours in a self-operating elevator in the Depot Bldg., Foundry st.

The girls, Alma McCarthy, 23, and Caroline Lee, 20, employed in a beauty parlor on the fourth floor entered the elevator on the fourth floor. It tipped between the second and fourth. Their cries of "Help" and "Police" were heard by a passerby who quickly notified the hospital.

Driver and doctor of the ambulance proved to be of no help. The police were called and their efforts proved none too good. Then the fire department responded, and the firefighters hoisted out.

Someone poking around in the cellar of the building threw a switch. The lights and power within the elevator returned and the frightened girls released themselves.

New York, Jan. 3 (AP)—A four-year scientific coasting expedition around the North Pole today was outlined by Capt. Robert A. Bartlett, home only a few days from 11 months in the Arctic.

Capt. Bartlett, who has spent 30 years in the north, returned with his schooner Morrissey from the Bering Sea with the Stoll-McCracken expedition.

The ship which Capt. Bartlett visioned for the four-year trip would be almost saucer-shaped to withstand ice pressure and pole magnetic.

3 SHOT, 2 DEAD; FARMER HELD

Bellevile, Ont., Jan. 3 (INS)—Charles Twells, said to have been at one time a practising physician in India, was held here today on a murder charge, the outgrowth of a triple shooting in which Twells' sons, Kenneth, 11, and Colin, 9, were killed.

Twells' brother-in-law, Arthur Corfield, was twice wounded in the head.

Corfield had gone to the Twells' home to clarify the division of equipment of a farm that they worked on shares. David Mattis, Jr., a neighbor, accompanied Corfield. Quarrel and shooting followed.

"I heard a shot and Corfield crawled through the doorway wounded," Mattis, who had remained outside, told police. "Then there were two more shots and I went in and found both boys dead."

HUNT 3 LOST IN MOUNTAIN BLIZZARD

Estes Park, Col., Jan. 3 (AP)—Three men who are believed lost in a blizzard on Long's Peak, and two reported would-be rescuers, were sought by a relief party which formed at Long's Peak Inn today to scour the region.

The searching party, headed by Forest Ranger John Preston, gathered following reports from the inn caretaker that an automobile left there Sunday by three men had not been called for.

The men were reported to have started the long climb to the nearly inaccessible mountain peak, 14,271 feet above sea level, and which is a formidable task even in winter exceeding dangerous challenge in mountaineering.

A raging blizzard swept the region last night and the cluttered would have suffered terribly if they were without fire and shelter.

The license number of the automobile left at the inn was issued to a banker named Mack of Fort Collins, who recently told friends he planned a trip into the mountains.

MILLIONS IN ART SHOWN

London, Jan. 3 (AP)—For once there is a surprise in London's art world that has no connection with the art room.

Tomorrow at Burlington House, headquarters of the Royal Academy, an exhibition of Duten art to which a dozen foreign governments and numerous private collectors have lent their aid, will open. Stories are told of the famed masterpieces being brought here by guards of armed men and escorts of battleships, and if these stories are not strictly accurate the art expert will say they ought to be.

The catalogue comprises nearly 1,000 items. Holland, as might have been expected, has been most generous. Verner, often reckoned monarch of Dutch masters though his output was small, is represented by at least 10 works. There are no fewer than 50 Rembrandts. All the major Dutch painters are well represented.

The governor states that the commutation took place with the advice of the Executive Council and gives the details of each case. The prisoners freed were Robert E. Conlin of Woburn and Frederick C. Nichols of Worcester County.

RADIO CHIEF GETS PROGRAM ADVICE

By FRED TOYE
Radio Editor

LOUIS A. WITTEN, one of the few radio announcers who are beyond criticism, writes a polite letter asking for advice with regard to programs for the Kolster Radio Hour during the coming season. Obviously the letter went to every newspaper in the United States, but it's a nice, friendly document, and Louis is a darn good announcer, so he really ought to have an answer. Besides, the things he asks are just my meat.

SUB ROSA

CONFIDENTIALLY, Louis, just between you and me, as it were, your Will Rogers And-Bunk rallies weren't so hot. If I remember rightly there was one broadcast at which Bob Benchley presided, which was a corker. As for the rest of them, there was too little Will Rogers and to much anti-bunk bunk.

THIRTY DON'TS

NOW, in framing your future programs, just observe the following restrictions and you can't go wrong. I mean you can't go wrong:

Don't play jazz music.
Don't play symphony music.
Don't give grand opera.
Don't perform light opera or operettas.
Don't hire a dance orchestra.
Especially a dance orchestra that sings or plays "Collegiate" stuff.
Don't put any advertising in your programs.
Don't take out time for station announcements.
Don't engage comedians as guest artists.
Don't hire grand opera singers.
Especially Italians.
Keep women out of your programs.
Don't let men sing or talk or play in your programs.
Or anybody else for that matter.
And don't give the child prodigy and mama's darlings.
Don't put on programs of chamber music.
Don't put on programs of parlor music.
Don't use a male quartet.
Or a female quartet. Or any of those, you know what I mean.
Don't pick a night when everybody wants to go to the movies.
Don't give your program on nights when people want to stay at home and relax.
Don't broadcast hockey games. I mean before, during or after.
Don't tell listeners what's wrong with their radio sets.
Don't permit wise-cracking announcements.
Don't make high-hat announcements.
Don't sing, play, dance or jew-harp "Sonny Boy."
Don't allow static, fading, heterodyning or interference.
Don't do serious broadcasts.
Don't do frothy music.

'MADAME X' TO IN N. Y. SOCIETY BE CONVERTED LIFE IN NEW INTO A TALKIE SERIAL

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Copyright, 1929, Universal Service

Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is going to give the world a chance to indulge in a grand tear spree. The motion picture rights to "Madame X" have been purchased by M-G-M, and it will be converted into a talkie.

There is no drama on the stage with so many dramatic highlights and so many deep-seated emotions. Some people may consider it old fashioned, but it is a story that could happen in any age and in any place.

Consider it down-right smart of Irving Thalberg to get an actress of Ruth Chatterton's ability to play Madame X." Ruth is quite a pet in Hollywood at the moment who could play that role so satisfactorily. Ruth is under contract to the mount but she has been borrowed by Metro-Goldwyn-Payer for this film. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will play the son and Lionel Barrymore will direct.

I do not believe that "Madame X" would ever have been resurrected without the talkies, for minus the dialogue it would have been a successful picture.

EARLY next month Thomas Meighan, accompanied by his wife, Frances King, will trek west to Hollywood and settle down for six months to make pictures for Warner Brothers. He will star in "The Argyle Case," a well-known murder mystery play which run for many months on Broadway.

Seems to me this is one of the plays that William Gillette made so famous. Thomas Jefferson left New York and Florida last June and made us all goodbye to gave a regular farewell ovation. But this column prophesied that Tommy would again listen to the siren call of the movies. And he did. Yes, we like to be right.

ALICE JOYCE didn't have much time to spend with her two children and husband. She made a hurried trip to New York for Christmas and arrived back in Los Angeles the day before it. But not for Alice is art and Alice has never let anything interfere with her career.

"The children are in school, while Jack will play the leading role, goes into filmediting. Instead of Jack's being the servant and Myrna Loy as the Gypsy, Bradley King will do the adaptation and direct. This is the more month on her contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer but Irving Thalberg has already let it be known he have the extra month to work with Al Rockett.

POOR Theodore Roberts. Yet I don't know why we should say "poor" Theodore Roberts. He has such a full life and so many years of success and happiness. His old friend William Collier, Sr., is expected to give him a part in "The Man Higher Up," but now that role has been given to Thomas Jefferson who was one of Theodore Roberts' good friends.

Almost any day you can see Hobarth Bosworth riding along the beach in his motor boat. He made a long trip to Hollywood from the Grand Duchess visited several motion pictures studios and was so delighted with the Klieg lights, the sound devices and the modern manner of making movies.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fejos took a ride on a 75-foot high crane which he invented. Mrs. Fejos is going to make a New Year's promise right here and that is never to take a ride in a 75-foot high crane again. It's got roller coasters, airplanes and loop the loops beaten a mile.

STEEPLECHASING has never been listed among the accomplishments of the motion picture women. That is, until last Sunday when Agnes Christine Johnston and Ann Fork with two other women on not in pictures raced for honors on the Uniform Course at Pimlico stirring nearly won. She was such a close second for a moment it looked up the music of the birds that post first. Miss Fork in her eagerness to make a showing fell from her horse and for a moment lay in the grass unconscious. Here first words were that she was badly hurt but she finished the race, not a complaint about her fall. That's being a good sport all right.

Cutting Shoestrings Hydra-Headed Speakeasies Advertising, Opportunity Remember the Sacred Bull

—By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1929, Star Co.

MR. GILBERT, interesting himself, for the United States, in Germany's payments to the Allies, says Germany can pay everything and go on paying $600,000,000 a year in gold indefinitely. France is delighted, England amazed.

Mr. Gilbert's rosy report reminds you of the old Jewish saying. "It is easy to cut shoestrings out of another man's leather."

But it will stimulate the sale of German bonds that international finance intends to unload—at a good profit—on American investors. Perhaps that is part of the program.

Mr. Whalen, New York's new police commissioner, with vim and vigor, joins raids on 55 New York speakeasies. According to New York police authorities, that leaves about 24,945 speakeasies still to be raided.

Raid 55 speakeasies, and 65 new ones open, in basements, over delicatessen stores, back of drug stores.

The serpent that grew a new head every time one was chopped off had the speakeasy idea.

It pays to advertise, and this is the land of opportunity for those that recognize opportunity when they see it.

Joseph P. Day sold a block of land for New York city yesterday.

To advertise the sale Mr. Day sent to many millionaires this speech: "All try to help the poor, but nobody thinks of the poor millionaire," and invited them to come to the Court House steps and bid.

The property sold for $2,375,000, all cash, and it was bought by Max Verchleiser, who came here from Austria as a boy, with nothing but courage.

Learn from Joseph P. Day that it pays to advertise in an original way and from Max Verchleiser that opportunities are still here.

That block, sold for $2,375,000 yesterday, cost New York, in 1930, $265,000. Keep a good piece of land and it will keep you.

Scientists, desiring to make science, popular, should not drag the name of God, or any theology, into their discussions.

They should learn wisdom from the Great Alexander, who wished his name and commands to be respected. When he conquered Egypt he inquired immediately for Apis, sacred Egyptian bull of Memphis. While the bull mumbled his hay, Alexander knelt and worshipped him, telling the Egyptians it was one of the finest gods he had ever seen.

They thought well of him and obeyed him. They had rebelled against a former conqueror, who, to show his power, slew the sacred bull and ate a piece of him.

An intoxicated lady told the judge her trouble was due to an alcohol rub. She had swallowed nothing. Doctors said it was just possible; the judge excused her.

A gentleman, very drunk, led in by a policeman, told the judge: "My mistake was eating raisins while drinking ice cream soda." They let him go.

Prohibition develops new excuses.

New York authorities, seizing 34 samples of bootleg whiskey, find 28 of them dangerously poisonous. Wood alcohol, hair tonic, carbolic acid, in some. The bootlegger with his "pre-war" supplies, is the good friend of undertaker and grave digger.

On the first business day of the year 1929 Wall Street bought 5,413,610 shares of stock.

Yesterday, second business day, the sales amounted to 5,800,000 shares.

The Scotch girl remarked to her friend that it would be a "ra'ar nicht," because she had been around the room but twice, and had been invited to supper six times.

It looks as though Wall Street were to have a "ra'ar nicht" or two during 1929.

A great three-engine army monoplane, the Question Mark, taking fuel supplies in the air from another plane, is on its fourth day of continuous flight. A small refueling plane pumped 150 gallons of gasoline into the big plane's tanks in six minutes.

That is good work, and Secretary of War Davis is to be congratulated.

A large number dead, many hurt in a storm in Japan, 20 villages flooded, hundreds of houses wrecked by high seas rolling inland, and now comes another earthquake.

The Japanese, courageous and resourceful, have been cruelly visited by Nature's fury.

They will meet this latest disaster as they have so many others, and overcome it.

BATTLE TO SAVE WOMAN FROM GALLOWS

ASKS HIGHER INCOME TAX EXEMPTION FOR POOR MAN'S BENEFIT

The heaviest blow in the battle against the proposed increase in the state income tax on workingmen's salaries was delivered today with the filing of a bill to increase the amount of exemption, instead of lowering it.

The bill, filed by Representative James E. Hagan of Somerville, provides for increasing the minimum exemption to $3,000, some lines suggested by officials and others who denounced the proposed reduction of exemption as unjustifiable and opposed to the trend of modern practice.

The bill, filed with the clerk of the House, calls for an increase in the amount of exemption, "so that the excess over $3,00[illegible] income derived from professional employment, trade or business shall be taxed at the rate of 1½ per cent per annum."

If enacted into law it would give the single man who earns $3,000 a year or less freedom from taxation, in contrast to the proposed change which would force him to pay a tax on anything over $1,000.

The married man and head of a family would benefit proportionately, instead of suffering as he would under the change suggested to the tax commission, which has caused a wave of protest from all walks in life.

Public officials, headed by former Governor Fuller, prominent citizens and working men and women have denounced the proposal as an outrageous attempt to make the workingman bear a heavier burden of taxation, while offering relief to those better able to pay.

Organized labor as a whole is lined

Last Hope Pinned on Insanity

Franklin, La., Jan. 4 — Judge James D. Simon in St. Mary's Parish District Court today refused to appoint a commission to inquire into the sanity of Mrs. Ada Bonner Leonard and Dr. Thomas F. Dobbs, sentenced to be hanged tomorrow, but said he would hear evidence as to their sanity.

The ganglia is being tested out for the execution of the pair tomorrow for the murder of the woman's husband.

The attorneys appeared today before Judge Simon with their contention that a sanity commission should be appointed. If the judge finds them sane there is one last card that can be played in the effort to stay the execution. Appli-

5 CITY COUNCILLORS AND SPORT LEADERS ON 'BRIBERY' GRILL TODAY

The Finance Commission today ordered several prominent Boston sporting men and five city councillors, including Councillor William G. Lynch of South Boston, the most directly accused, to be on hand at the State House this afternoon for testimony in the investigation of Sunday sports bribery charges.

The sports representatives who were told that their stories would be required today are:

Daniel J. Carroll, fight manager, whose "stable" of boxers includes the Boston favorites, "Dynamite Jim" Maloney and "Honeyboy" Finnegan.

"Eddie" Mack, fight matchmaker at the Boston Garden.

Edmund P. Cunningham, secretary of the Boston Braves.

Among the city councillors instructed to be present today are representatives of both the "lily white" group, who favored passage of the Sunday sports measure from the start, and the alleged bribe-seeking contingent, who are said to have sent Councillor Lynch to solicit a bribe from the Braves' owners.

President Thomas H. Green, and Councillors Murray and Ward of the "lily whites," and Wilson and Lynch of the "opposition," are those whom the Finance Commission expects to query today.

Vice-President Charles F. Adams of the Braves announced that he had cancelled a trip to Bermuda, upon which he was to have started today with his wife, and would attend all the hearings, although he has finished telling his version of the alleged

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—Repeated violations of the prohibition act would draw increased penalties under a proposed amendment to the act introduced today by Representative Swank, Democrat, Oklahoma.

A second conviction, while not changing the amount of the fine imposed, would fix the minimum sentence at six months and the maximum at 10 years. Upon a third conviction a sentence of not less

QUESTION MARK ON ITS FOURTH DAY'S FLIGHT

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Jan. 4 (AP)—Five determined men, who have driven the Army's monoplane Question Mark through all existing records for sustained flight by heavier than air machines, continued their epochal adventure today, showing no inclination to come back to earth.

The Question Mark began its fourth day in the air at 7.56 o'clock this morning.

When taking on 150 gallons of gasoline at 6.30 a. m., the plane showed no ill-effects from its long grind. It was still flying over the Imperial valley, where it was forced yesterday because of fog along the coast. There was no in-

"It is not consistent with the aims of the postal department," Bartlett declared, "to hasten mail in transit by the use of aircraft, if it lives in its shipment and then brook its delay at the landing field by using slow methods to transport it to the postoffice for sorting and delivery."

Mr. Hearst Offers $25,000 for True Temperance Plan

W. R. Hearst, Los Angeles Examiner, Los Angeles, Cal.:

Glad you can use Pinchot plan. Pinchot plan mailed today to all Hearst Sunday editors.

Your telegraphic comments appreciated on subject of education versus force in getting Eighteenth Amendment obeyed.

We wish you had sent the telegram as entry in prize contest. I would like to come West and talk with you about this problem of law observance as a necessary part of the return of the country to being law-abiding.

EDWIN J. CLAPP.

In reply to the above telegram from Mr. Edwin J. Clapp, famous publicist, formerly with the Hearst papers, but now with Durant Motors, Incorporated, Mr. Hearst sent the following telegram, which is printed herewith on account of the prize announcement which it contains:

Edwin J. Clapp,
Care Durant Motors, Incorporated,
Room 2403, 250 West 57th St.,
New York, N. Y.:

We do not have to make the American people law-abiding. We only have to keep them law-abiding.

And the best way to keep them law-abiding is not to make laws which very large and reputable elements of the community consider unwise, unjust, un-American and in violation of their fundamental rights as free citizens.

I do not believe that prohibition ever will be or ever can be enforced, and I DO believe that if a violent effort is made to enforce it during the next four years by the Republican administration, the next President of the United States will be a Democrat.

Smith's candidacy proves nothing except that the people did not want SMITH.

Nor would the personal liberty issue have won in this campaign with any candidate.

But after four more years of snooping, spying, keyhole peeping and interference with fundamental rights and liberties by fanatics and professional busybodies, the country will be ripe for a revolution against un-American conditions of the oppressive and offensive kind.

The opposition to prohibition is not merely by people who want to get drunk.

Prohibition is opposed by such temperance influences as the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal Church and the Hearst newspapers—I modestly put the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal Church first—the reason for this opposition is that prohibition is a failure as a temperance measure.

The more we try to enforce it, the greater failure it becomes as a temperance measure, because the only thing we can absolutely prevent traffic in is bulky drinkables like wines and beers; and these contain the least amount of alcohol, and are consequently the least harmful.

It never has been possible and never will be possible to prevent traffic in compact and concentrated alcoholic drinks; and even if the traffic could be interfered with, every man could make these in his own cellar if he wanted to.

Furthermore, we must not make the mistake of thinking that the country is divided into two classes—drys, who want to make the country bone-dry; and wets, who want to make the country souse-wet.

There is an enormous middle class, which probably is a majority class, who believe in temperance and believe in personal liberty, and realize that temperance can be secured without prohibition, and never can be secured with prohibition.

These people do not want to be ruled by the liquor interests nor, on the other hand, by the bone-dry fanatics.

Sooner or later they are going to assert themselves, and personally I think it will be sooner.

Prohibition has been repudiated by every country which has ever tried it, primarily because it did not accomplish the thing it was supposed to accomplish, and secondarily because it became such an unpopular measure that no government could stand up under it, not even firmly entrenched monarchical governments.

Therefore, I think that in offering a prize on how best to enforce prohibition, Mr Durant is really offering a prize on how best to put the Republican party out of power.

And I think Mr. Pinchot has actually won the prize, because his plan being the most un-American and the most obnoxious will make the Republican party more unpopular than any other plan which has been proposed.

I did not mean to say in my previous telegram that education would get the Eighteenth Amendment obeyed.

I meant to say that education would promote a desire for temperance; but that will probably mean the repeal or material modification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

I consider the Eighteenth Amendment not only the most flagrant violation of the basic American principle of personal liberty that has ever been imposed on the American public, but the most complete failure as a temperance measure that has ever been conceived.

Therefore, I would like to offer, and hereby do offer, a prize of twenty-five thousand dollars for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and substitute in place of prohibition a more liberal and more American measure, which will secure for the public more genuine temperance, with less offensive interference with the fundamental rights and personal liberties of the citizen.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Make a Better Law

An Impossible Law Cannot Be Enforced

Above is published an offer of $25,000 for the best suggestion for the repeal of the prohibition amendment. The law, fastened on the country in the fervor of war excitement, is proved after years of trial, a miserable failure.

Millions have been spent by the Government IN VAIN.

The bootleg industry is firmly established on the basis of crime and bribery.

Law and the Constitution are injured in the eyes of the nation by the open contempt with which the prohibition amendment and the Volstead law are treated.

Openly, children hear their fathers boasting of their skill in defying and evading the law, and this, in millions of "respectable" homes.

Children, like their fathers, are actually customers of the bootleggers. And a problem this country never expected to face confronts fathers and mothers HOW TO KEEP WHISKEY FROM CHILDREN OF HIGH SCHOOL AGE.

From every point of view the results have been disastrous. Respect for the law has been damaged, almost irreparably.

"Respectability" says "I despise and disobey a law that does not suit me."

Why should not criminals in the gutter say, "We despise the laws protecting life and property that do not suit us"?

They do say it, and the result is seen in the innumerable murders, holdups, briberies, scandals and corruptions of public officials.

You cannot force upon a nation sumptuary laws, to please a minority, against a will of the majority, no matter how virtuous and well-meaning the minority.

The welfare of the country, the safety of the public, the respect for law and order demand a change.

Prohibition, as it stands now in the Constitution, and the statute, is a failure, a crime-producing mistake, deadly in its effect.

A way must be found to undo the most harmful mistake of a century.

Mr. Hearst has offered $25,000 for the best suggestion that may be offered.

Information for those interested, details as to the handling of suggestions, etc., will be published later.

New York Day by Day

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—Stage censorship in New York seems just around the corner. Even worthy producers who fought it have come to believe the stage must be purged to survive. The growth of censored talkies also alarms. This season marked the high tide of shameless passages and gestures. Even I flamed red and ask anyone what that indicates.

While it was generally true only clean plays endured, there was certain producers who continued to exploit sheer muck with a disgusting upward. Everything was put across with a crude and raw vulgarity and nothing was left to the imagination.

Innumerable patrons not at all finnicky found themselves making for the exit in the middle of an act. Mae West's production of "The Pleasure Man," glorifying the pathological lollipop we used to speak of only in whispers, was not so far in advance of its many contemporaries.

She merely capitalized and dragged into the open a disgusting theme that has been thinly disguised in many plays. There were three plays featuring those peculiar, mannishly dressed and monocled ladies who are also mentioned only in medical tomes.

Still another openly flaunted the inferior view of a wash room with players passing in and out, making suggestive remarks. In the same production more than 30 gutter epithets were mouthed that no respectable newspaper would think of printing.

It is agreed the theater has become broader minded. Fifteen years ago a single defamatory name caused many ladies to swoon in the aisle at the production of Clyde Fitch's "The City." But most people still believe sewage should run under ground.

A stage cluttered up with nude ladies has been no novelty on Broadway for several years. The old wheeze of the fellow waiting on a Broadway corner for a reputed Godiva because it had been so long since he saw a horse is not an exaggeration of the times. Censorship or jail is needed, if anyone asks me—which they won't.

A COUPLE of slightly squinted gentlemen in silk hats asked a blind street corner piccolo player the other night for the loan of his piccolo. One of them expertly rendered several tunes as a crowd gathered while the other passed his hat. Quite a sum was wheedled out of spectators.

"You are not so poor now," said the hat passer, stuffing a roll of bills into the blind man's hand.

"Nor so blind, either," replied the beggar, lifting his black glasses to bestow a sly wink.

BROADWAY has many beggars employed by a syndicate. They are housed, bed and board, no matter what the receipts, and a percentage of the take-in. In this way they are guaranteed a living and in cases of arrest or other difficulties the syndicate renders legal aid. Routes are assigned to them daily. Chinatown, incidentally, is one of the best assignments. Upper Fifth ave., known as Millionaire's row, the poorest.

A NEAT racket is also being worked by girls who work in pairs. Their victims are shop keepers. One girl makes a purchase and presents a check on which she revolves a goodly amount of change. A telephone call to the bank establishes the worthiness of the check. But before it can be collected, the other girl presents a check that completely closes the account.

ONE of the most beautiful women I ever saw was an expert passer of bogus checks. She was caught red-handed in a jewelry establishment putting over a fast one and she refused to accompany the detective until permission was granted to touch up her face with powder and rouge. And I have paid $5.00 to peek from behind a post to see exits that were not half so grand.

THERE was another beautiful lady crook interviewed in a cell in the Tombs. She seemed a Lady Vere de Vere with her drawing room manner and rare perfume. My complete disillusionment came only upon departing when she archly inquired if I happened to save "a sniff of snow." And I've been wondering since if I looked that way."

Noah Wouldn't Know It

by Herbert Kaufman

If Noah Webster could see a late edition of his book (which celebrates its first centenary this year) he'd be amazed at the number of definitions that a hundred years of discovery and invention have added to the original work.

And probably shocked by some of the once unrespectable expressions that have seeped therein.

But nations that aren't making new words aren't breaking new ground.

That's how slang becomes a weed patch from which we gather vigorous flowers of speech when emergency lacks a colorful phrase.

In time the dictionary transplants these wild words into its formal garden and domesticates them.

Thus some of our most popular vernacular, like many of our "best" families, is of very vulgar extraction.

Vocabulary and botany have the same habit of enriching themselves from obscure sources. Both search the jungles for fresh material.

Orchids begin in tropical marshes and end in hothouses, and thousands of socially approved phrases also sprang from the muck.

The highbrow mind is seldom a verbal Burbank; it usually carries a sufficient ready-made stock to answer all requirements.

But semi-literate folk experience so many situations and emotions beyon l the interpretative resources of a simple education that they are compelled to occasional originality.

And if it's uniquely graphic or pictorial, the community adopts the waif utterance and makes it a common servant of thought.

Thieves, gypsies and tinkers, as well as scholars, scientists and thinkers, have regularly laid stones in the Tower of Babel called the English language—a helter-skelter structure with no definite plan—filled with material collected all the way from the academies of ancient Greece to Broadway night clubs.

Pure English hasn't been spoken since the Romans landed in Britain.

And the prigs who pride themselves that they speak it, are self-confessed ignoramuses before history.
